HOWELL JOINS IN URGING ACTION TO BOOST GRAIN PRICE

Solons From Four States Ask Broadening Of Farm Board's Present Policy, Which Is Chiefly Centered On Acreage Reduction—Capper Again Presents Plan For Purchase Of 100,000,000 Bushels To "Aid Present Critical Situation."

WASHINGTON, July 22 — (AP) — Chairman Legge's statement that criticism of the farm board's wheat policy is mostly "political bunk" has not stilled demands for the board to take action to increase the price of grain.

Senators from four wheat growing states, led by Capper of Kansas, called on him today to urge that the board broaden its present program, which is chiefly centered on crop reduction. Pine of Oklahoma, Allen of Kansas, Howell of Nebraska and McMaster of South Dakota accompanied Capper.

After the conference Senator Capper said the group had emphasized the need for action to "aid the present critical situation." They expressed the hope, he added, that something be done "to give the farmer a better price while the wheat is still in his hands and before it gets into the hands of speculators."

Buy Wheat, Capper Urges.

Senator Capper again presented his plan for the purchase of 100,000,000 bushels of wheat by board agencies. Legge had previously disapproved this suggestion, saying the board could do little unless the farmer aided in reducing the surplus.

Capper said the government could take some loss in purchasing the wheat. The possibility that it could be sold at low prices or even

Heavy Wheat Yields Are Saving Farmer

Growers of Western Nebraska To Make Money In Spite Of Prevailing Low Prices.

OMAHA, July 22—(AP)— The largest Tuesday's run of the year was recorded at the Omaha Grain exchange today, when 613 cars of wheat were received. This presented one of the biggest Tuesday receipts in history, as Tuesday is ordinarily a very light day.

Superintendent C. C. Holtdorf of the Sterling division of the Burlington stated here today, that he found on an inspection tour of the Holdrege branch that yields in that territory range from 30 to 40 bushels to the acre, and that 50 bushel acres are not unusual. With the yield so large, he said, the farmer can sell at the low prevailing price and still make money.

FRED JOHNSON BEGINS ACTION

Cotesfield Man Seeks To Have Name On Primary Ballot.

Supreme Justice Goss Hears Case Tuesday Afternoon.

Permission for the starting of an action in state Supreme court by Fred Johnson of Cotesfield, asking a mandatory order against Secretary of State Marsh to place the former's name on the republican primary ballot as a candidate for state auditor, was granted Tuesday morning by Chief Justice Goss, who set the matter down for hearing at 2 p. m.

Attorneys representing the petitioner, Secretary Marsh, and Fred H. Johnson of Lincoln, also a candidate for auditor, conferred together with the chief justice before he decided to take jurisdiction. Judge Goss fixed the hour for hearing so as to allow Fred H. Johnson's lawyers time to prepare an answer and set up certain pleading upon which they desired an opportunity to offer evidence.

The main question hinged upon

HOOVER SIGNS TREATY AFTER RATIFICATION

RATIFIED BY VOTE OF 58-9

Solons Seek Relaxation; Prepare For Coming Campaigns.

WASHINGTON, July 22—(AP)—President Hoover today signed the London naval treaty.

In the east room of the Whtie house, with Secretaries Stimson and Adams and Senators Reed, republican, Pennsylvania, and Robinson, democrat, Arkasas, conference delegates, and Senator Watson of Indaian, the majority leader, looking on, Mr. Hoover signed the pact for limitation of all fighting vessels of the American, English and Japanese navies.

Vice President Curtis, chairman of the foreign relations committee, and Senator Swanson of Virginia, the ranking democrat on the foreign relations committee, also witnessed the signing.

President Hoover signed the document with the gold pen used by the American delegates to the London conference when they placed their names upon the agreement at the end of the parley.

Secures Full Defense.

WASHINGTON, July 22—(AP)—President Hoover said today the London naval treaty approved yesterday by the senate would secure the full defense of the United States and would dismiss from the minds of the world any idea that this country aimed for imperialistic exploitation.

Asserting the pact, which he will sign today, it is a great accomplishment, the chief executive said it was a matter of satisfaction that it had been carried through step by

COUNTY TAXES REMAIN SAME

Assessor's Office Says No Increases Necessary.

Levy One of Lowest Four In Entire State.

No increase in the tax levy for county purposes should be necessary, it was stated at the office of the county assessor Tuesday morning, following submission of the county's assessment abstract to State Tax Commissioner Scott late Monday.

Although the abstract showed a drop of approximately two million dollars in values of real property and tangible personal property against which the county levy will be made, the substantial balances in all county funds and the exercise of economy is expected to obviate the need of an increased levy.

The county levy last year was reduced from 1.83 mills to 1.80 mills. The Lancaster county levy is now one of the lowest four in the state. Adams county has a 1 mill levy. Seward county has a 1.75 mill levy and Cuming county has a levy the same as Lancaster, 1.80.

Levies in all other counties are above 2 mills, going as high as 7.75 mills in Keya Paha county. Most county levies are in excess of three mills, only twelve of the ninety-three counties in the state having levies of less than that.

No Change Expected.

Although forty counties have been ordered to show cause why their assessments as returned to the state board of equalization should not be increased, State Tax Commissioner Scott informed County Assessor Bell, Monday, that no change was to be expected in this county's figures.

The county board of equalization had planned to ask for a reduction of real estate values in this county of possibly as much as 10 per cent, figuring that property in the eastern part of the state is over-valued in comparison with other sections of Nebraska.

Whether any reduction will be asked will depend upon figures returned by neighboring counties, it was indicated Tuesday morning in the assessor's office. If Saunders, Gage, Cass, Saline, and Seward counties return assessments similar to those of last year, Lancaster county would have little opportunity of securing a reduction, it is felt.

If these counties, however, should show substantial reductions in real estate valuations, it is likely that Lancaster officials would ask a decrease also.

Figures on the county's share of Pullman car property valuations in the state were received by the assessor Tuesday from the statehouse. The Lancaster valuation was returned at $55,448, a figure a trifle smaller than last year.

CITY READY TO TRY TEST WELL BRANSON FARM

Schroeder Insists On Securing Purchase Option First.

Commissioner Seeking New Relief to Aid University Place.

Commissioner Schroeder, head of the water department, is ready to test the wells said to be on the C. M. Branson farm west of the penitentiary, he said Tuesday. It will be useless to talk tests, however, unless certain agreements are first completed with Mr. Branson, he added. The first of these will have to be a contract covering options on the land involved, in the event that the city should want to purchase after the tests are made.

Although he is willing to make the tests, Mr. Schroeder is skeptical of the outcome. If there is as much water there as claimed, "I am surprised the state has not taken advantage of it a long time ago," he said. "The state has its water problem at the penitentiary, just the same as we have it in the city. Thus far a considerable portion of the water used there has come from wells sunk north and west of the prison not far from the Nebraska City line of the Burlington."

Knows Of No Well Logs.

W. Worthington, the man who sank the wells on the Branson farm, has been known to Mr. Schroeder ever since the latter first became a member of the city coun-

POSSE LOCATES MISSING GIRLS

Youths Arrested After All Night Search At Sidney.

SIDNEY, Neb., July 22—(AP)—The mysterious disappearance of two young Sidney girls was cleared by county authorities this morning with the arrest of Anton Kripal, jr., 16, and Donald Miller, 17, both of Lodgepole, 20 miles west of here, after a sweeping search by a posse in the wild hilly country west of Sidney.

Two itinerant harvest workers told officers that they saw the four young people together late last night. The two girls were found at Dix, 30 miles west of Sidney. They had spent the night in the open.

The boys were arrested a short time later at their homes in Lodgepole and officers said the youths confessed that they had left the girls on a lonely road near Dix when they resisted advances.

First indications that the girls had disappeared was about 10 p. m. Monday when the horse which they had been riding was found grazing on the court house square. After an all night search proved unsuccessful, the fire siren was sounded at 4 a. m. today and a posse of citizens was formed to conduct an

SOVIET OFFICIAL IS THREATENED WITH CONTEMPT

ADMITS PLANS FOR SOCIAL REVOLUTION

Claims Program Is For 'Replacement' of Capitalistic System.

NEW YORK, July 22—(AP)—Peter A. Bogdanov, president and chairman of the Amtorg Trading corporation, official purchasing agency for the soviet government, was threatened with contempt today for refusing to answer questions before the special congressional committee investigating communist activities in the United States.

Bogdanov was first, asked about Amtorg affiliations with the soviet government and acknowledged that there was soviet direction of the American corporation through various Russian trade associations.

Chairman Hamilton Fish of the committee asked:

"Doesn't every communist have to help carry out the program of the party?"

Bogdanov agreed that this was so.

Social Revolution.

"And doesn't the party program call for a social revolution and the dictatorship of the proletariat?" Fish asked

"Yes" said Bogdanov.

"This means," Fish continued, "that the capitalistic system must be destroyed by force?"

"I am prohibited from discussing politics.

Chairman Fish said that his committee did not recognize the authority of the soviet government, but Bogdanov still declined to answer on the grounds that trade relations between America and Russia might be jeopardized.

At this point Representative John Nelson of Maine interrupted the questioning to say that the committee had authorization from

WHEAT OUTLOOK NOT PROMISING

Says Lower Prices Must Be Met By Cut In Production Cost.

Declaring that the outlook for wheat growers throughout the country is not and will not be encouraging for the next few years, Harold Hedges, professor of rural economics at the University of Nebraska, told members of the Rotary club Tuesday noon that the wheat prices of the next few years would be substantially lower than during the past seven years.

The low price of wheat must be met by a lower cost of production, Professor Hedges claimed. Lower prices would not be felt to such an extent in the western areas.

Professor Hedges' address, in part, follows:

Outlook Not Encouraging.

"The price outlook for wheat growers is not very encouraging for the next few years. The general trend of wheat prices since 1924 has been downward and there is considerable evidence indicating that the level of wheat prices of the next few years will be substantially lower than the average of the past six or seven years. That is not saying they will average as low as present prices which are around 80-82 cents in Omaha, but will likely be well below the $1.25 average of the past seven years.

"There has been a distinct upward trend in wheat acreage in Canada, Argentina, Australia, and in the hard winter wheat area of the United States since the post-war deflation. This upward trend has persisted in spite of the downward course of prices since 1924. Present prices may slow up or perhaps halt further expansion, but any price recovery will likely encourage further gains in acreage. Russia must not be overlooked since that country has the largest expanse of potential wheat acreage in the world. The Soviet has made large imports of improved farm machinery and is making strenuous efforts to increase wheat exports. Since the natural resources are there, it seems only a matter of time until Russia will again take a leading place in the export market.

Early Adjustment Desirable.

"The sooner adjustments in American wheat production are made in the light of the world outlook for the next few years the less serious will be the consequences. Acreage reduction has followed other periods of low prices and will follow this one. High cost producers and high cost areas are the first to feel the effects of low prices. Unless they can meet the situation by producing at lower

Second Norris Goes Back to Broken Bow

GEORGE W. NORRIS.

Broken Bow grocer, whose filing as a candidate for the republican nomination for United States senator created a maelstrom in political circles, left Lincoln early Tuesday morning for Broken Bow "to straighten up" his affairs there. Norris said he expected to return to work with the Skaggs Safeway company. While in Lincoln Norris issued complete denials of charges that he had been encouraged or paid to become a candidate by interests opposed to the re-election of Senator George W. Norris.

HIKE VALUATION IN 18 COUNTIES

Board of Equalization Contemplates Taking Action July 28.

Four Counties Due For Assessment Cuts To Match Neighbors.

An increase in farm land tax valuations in eighteen counties of Nebraska where it appears from the returns made by the county assessors that the figures are too low is contemplated by the state board of equalization, while in four other counties the board thinks there should be a reduction of such assessments to place them on the same general level with the rest of the state.

An order listing specific increases and decreases for these 22 counties has been issued by the board; but before taking final action it will hold a hearing in the capitol on July 28, at 10 a. m., at which time officials representing the counties affected may appear and show cause why they should not be raised or lowered.

In most of the counties slated to have thier land valuations boosted, assessors' reports exhibit a decrease in average per acre valuation from a year ago, and some of these cuts are very substantial. The board has made up a tentative schedule of percentage increases intended to bring each one up to a parity with other counties whose lands are considered to be in the same class.

The changes in view will, if made, restore the basis of farm land assessment to about what it was in

Gooch Feed Mill Contract Awarded To Olson Company

Olson Construction Co. was awarded the contract Monday for the construction of the Gooch Feed Mill company's plant to be erected west of the Gooch units at Sixth and South streets. Work is to begin immediately, and the buildings will be completed by October 1.

Nursemaid Gave Norris His Middle Name of Winifred

The wishes of a nursemaid, some thirty-five years ago, gave George W. Norris, Broken Bow grocer, the initial "W" which has since brought him wide public attention by reason of the fact that his name is identical with that of Senator George W. Norris, whom the Broken Bow man sought to oppose in the republican primary election.

The nursemaid's name was "Winifred," and in deference to her wishes the parents of the Broken Bow man named him "George Winifred Norris." Senator Norris' full name is "George William Norris."

The grocer explained the history of his name in refuting charges that he had faked the middle initial in order that he might file under a name identical with that of the Nebraska senator.

BROKEN BOW MAN SAYS NYE WILL FIND "NOTHING WRONG"

Second Norris Reaches Lincoln After Senate Campaign Investigation Hearing Ends But Talks Freely To Newspaper Men—Says Entered Race For Senator On Own Volition—Not To Run As Independent Candidate.

George W. Norris of Broken Bow, who reached Lincoln Monday evening, too late to be questioned by Senator Gerald P. Nye of the United States senate campaign investigating committee, told The Star that he was ready and willing to answer any and all questions regarding his filing as a candidate for the republican senatorial nomination.

He emphatically asserted that the committee would find "nothing wrong" with his filing, and denied that he had received either encouragement or pay for getting into the race against Senator George W. Norris. His filing, he said, was entirely his own idea, and furthermore he expressed confidence that if the Supreme court had not declared his filing illegal he would have beaten Senator Norris in the November election.

Comes Back From Missouri.

Norris arrived in Lincoln shortly before five o'clock Monday afternoon after driving all day from Fairfax, Missouri, in an effort to reach here in time to be questioned by Senator Nye. Information was received by Senator Nye early in the afternoon that Norris was on his way to Lincoln, but he adjourned the hearing at 5 p. m. and announced that he would leave for Chicago on an 8 o'clock train.

"I want it understood that I have not been hiding out," Norris said.

"I was in Lincoln Friday and anyone could have found me if they had wanted to. I waited until the court decided that my filing was

MAKING CAPITAL OF WITHDRAWAL

Hint That Broken Bow Filing Possible Ruse Of Friends.

Anti-Norris republicans were making capital Tuesday of the revelation that John P. Robertson, son-in-law of Senator George W. Norris, had the withdrawal affidavit of the Broken Bow Norris in his pocket Friday evening, while the locality of the grocer's filing was being argued in the Supreme court, ready to file it with the secretary of state should Judge Goss declare the filing valid.

This fact was brought out Monday evening after Senator Gerald P. Nye had adjourned his inquiry into the circumstances surrounding the Broken Bow man's filing. Shortly after the hearing was adjourned, H. L. Wilson, Broken Bow attorney who had been subpoenaed but was not questioned, requested that Senator Nye re-open the inquiry and make it a matter of record that Robertson was given the affidavit.

The consent of Paul Johnson, Norris' attorney, was not given, however, and the matter was dropped.

This fact, which had not previously been brought to light was being interpreted by the anti-Norris republicans as substantiation of previous hints that the whole affair had been staged by friends of the senator as a clever campaign ruse to attract sympathy to Senator

YOUNG MOTHER IS FOUND DEAD

Mrs. Thelma Stearnes Is Discovered Lifeless By Her Father.

Mrs. Thelma Stearnes, 23, 919 South Twenty-third street, was found dead, lying face downward on the floor beside her bed shortly before 11 o'clock Tuesday morning. Physicians will make a further examination this afternoon to determine the cause of death.

Mrs. Stearnes, mother of three small daughters, was found by her father, L. H. Sterns, farmer, living near Lincoln. Mr. Sterns went to his daughter's home to get a coal oil stove. The children were playing about the place, unaware of the tragedy.

Glenn R. Stearnes, the husband, an automobile mechanic, left the mother and children while at breakfast shortly after 8 o'clock. She was apparently in normal health at that time, he said.

Deputy Sheriff Cecil Ward, acting coroner investigated. Dr. Charles Harms and Dr. A. H. Webb were called to the home. A consultation with Dr. George E. Lewis, city physician, and Dr. R. H. Sawyer, county physician, was called for this afternoon.

The body is being held at Umberger's pending funeral arrangements.

County Attorney Max G. Towle ordered Dr. George E. Lewis, city physician, to investigate the death. Dr. Lewis is expected to make a report Tuesday afternoon, and Mr. Towle will decide Wednesday morning whether an inquest is to be held.

Seven Prominent Medical Experts Study Babies to Determine Which is Which

CHICAGO, July 22—(AP)— Two tiny babies, with nothing to do but sleep and eat, kept science guessing today.

One of the babies is Charles Evan Watkins. The other is George Edward Bamberger. What bothers science is the question of whether Charles Watkins is George Bamberger and George Bamberger is Charles Watkins.

To settle the question, seven prominent medical and scientific experts, Chief Justice Harry Olson of the Municipal court and Health Commissioner Arnold R. Kegel delved deeper into the family traits, racial characteristics, skin structure and blood cell formation of the parents.

Believe Solution Possible.

While they admitted that solution was difficult, the experts agreed that the findings of one compared with those of the other six should produce corroborative evidence.

To Dr. Cleveland White, dermatologist of Northwestern university, was assigned the task of studying the skin structure. Fingerprint convolutions and hair thicknesses went into the detection laboratories of Dr Ferdinand Watzek and A. J. Mullaney of the Northwestern university crime school.

Photometric and X-ray bone studies faced Dr. Gerhardt von Bonin, University of Illinois anthropologist, and Dr Davis S. Hillis, obstetrician at Passavant hospital.

Study Blood Cells.

Blood cells of parents and babies went under the microscope of Dr. Hamilton R. Fishback of Northwestern university, who sought hereditary traces in the blood consistency.

Nothing in the physical structure of the human body has been overlooked Dr I mil Deutsch, the opthomologist who traced the glasses worn by Nathan Leopold, jr., co-slayer with Richard Loeb of Bobby Franks, was called to determine if there is any hereditary trace in eye coloring, shape and slant.

The infancy of the babies has made the study of racial characteristics doubly uncertain. The races of the parents, too, are involved. William Watkins is Welsh, Mrs. Watkins is German. Charles Bamberger

'BUNK,' REPLIES LEGGE TO HIS POLICY CRITICS

Farm Board Head Says He's Not Hiding Behind President Hoover.

Promises Early Report On Campaign To Reduce Wheat Acreage.

WASHINGTON, July 22—(AP)—Chairman Legge of the farm board says opposition to the board's wheat policy is "political bunk" of "the same kind" that put the farmer in his present unfavorable economic position.

In a statement published today, he said he was fighting in the open and not hiding behind President Hoover. He added he would make a report to the chief executive soon on the progress of the board's campaign for a reduced wheat acreage.

"The farm board," he said, "was created to assist the farmer and not for politics. The farmer's problem is an economic one that will never be solved by any political remedies.

"The president has not interfered with our program and we have gone ahead sawing wood. I expect to report to him soon on the acreage reduction campaign, but I am not hiding behind his skirts."

Expects Co-operation.

Legge went on to say he was prepared to tell Mr. Hoover he expected co-operation in the acreage reduction program from the farmers of every state in the winter wheat belt. He described the purpose of the campaign as to show the farmer he must reduce production or accept a lower price for his wheat.

After terming the opposition to the board's policies "political bunk," Legge said:

"Present and future orations written by the democratic national committee and fathered by various orators to broadcast the alleged failure of the farm board are only more of the same kind of political bunk by virtue of which the farmer has arrived at his present position."

He said the opposition of Governor Reed of Kansas was "wholly political" and applied the same description to criticism of the board for not buying and storing large amounts of the 1930 wheat crop.

CHARLES HUNTER DIES IN HOSPITAL

Six-Year-Old Boy Dead From Respirational Failure After Anesthetic Is Administered.

Charles Donald Hunter, 6, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Hunter, 4909 Spruce street, died in Bryan Memorial hospital Monday evening. Vomiting, induced by an anesthetic administered for a minor operation resulted in respirational failure, physicians said.

Charles had been playing at his home with other lads earlier in the evening. One of his playmates inverted a lawn mower, and started pulling it across the yard. Charles ran after him, and trying to catch the mower, caught two fingers of his right hand in the blades. His parents took him to the hospital, where it was determined to amputate one of the digits.

Dr. W. W. Musselt administered the anesthetic, and was to have been assisted in the operation by Dr. K. S. J. Hohlen, who was attending another case at the hospital. Charles had eaten a heavy meal a few hours before the operation, and vomiting followed administration of the gas anesthesia, clogging the boy's respiratory organs.

The body is being held at Hodgman's pending funeral arrangements.

WAVE OF HEAT FINALLY BROKEN

Mercury at Chicago Recedes to 70s; Grain States Get Rain.

CHICAGO, July 22—(AP)—The little red lines in the thermometers out this way had come down today where they belong.

After several days of heat, that exhausted the adjectives of perspiring commentators, the atmosphere had cooled off to the temperate 70s.

There was rain in the grain states. In Iowa the grateful farmers spoke of it as "a million dollars rain," for it fell on pastures and fields that had burned for days under the unclouded sun.

Showers Predicted for N. Y.

NEW YORK, July 22—(AP)—The end of a three day heat wave was in sight today as the sky became clouded and the weather bureau made positive predictions of thunder showers this afternoon.

Rain fell last night and this morning throughout the rest of the state and a light shower dampened Central park, but the city in general was not so fortunate.

The temperature at 10 o'clock was 79 degrees, 5 under the mark of the same hour yesterday. The humidity, however, was 8 degrees higher.

Following the hottest day of the summer yesterday, with a peak of 99 degrees, the populace spent the most uncomfortable night of the year. Thousands took advantage of the city's invitation to sleep on beaches and in parks, and children frolicked in street hydrant showers until after midnight.

Ex-Democratic Chief Will Support Pinchot

HARRISBURG, July 22—(AP)—The Harrisburg newspapers controlled by Vance McCormick, former national chairman of the democratic party, The Patriot and The Evening News, announce they will support Gifford Pinchot for governor of Pennsylvania in the November election.

Editorially, the newspapers state that they will not support the program of the democratic leadership and the democratic gubernatorial candidate—John M. Hemphill—because of the party's stand for repeal of the state liquor enforcement act. They point out that they refused to support Alfred E. Smith for president because of his position on prohibition.

Mrs. Boyden, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel T. Chase of Lake Forest, has published many poems. Her marriage in June, 1918, was an outstanding social event. The dispatches said she was granted custody of the two daughters.

FEARS FELT FOR 4 MISSIONARIES

U. S. Seeking Release of Three Women and Man In China City.

SHANGHAI, July 22—(AP)—The fate of four American missionaries, three of them women, who were trapped in the rebel-held city of Pochow during its recent bombardment by nationalist forces, occupied the attention of United States consular authorities today.

The missionaries, Miss Olive Riddell, Dr. Mary King and Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Strother of the Southern Baptist mission, with headquarters at Richmond, Va., were caught in Pochow when rebellious northerners occupied it prior to the recent outbreak of evil war.

Two months ago nationalists beseiged the city with a small force, expecting the rebels to surrender because of a food shortage. When the northerners failed to capitulate within the desired time the nationalists began an artillery bombardment.

Gravely concerned, the missionary headquarters attempted to communicate with the quartet but failed. The aid of American authorities then was sought.

Missionary headquarters said the last communication from Pochow came via Kweited May 13, in which Rev. Mr. Strother said his party had considerable food but was unable to leave the city and considered the future uncertain.

Little Anxiety Felt.

RICHMOND, Va., July 22—(AP)—Officials of the Southern Baptist mission board headquarters expressed the belief that the four American missionaries in Pochow, China, during the bombardment of that city have not been harmed. They stated that no reports have been received by them and that the board almost certainly would have been advised by other missionaries if any harm had come to the Americans.

Miss Olive Riddell, one of the missionaries is of Dumbarton, Va. She was appointed by the Baptist board in 1929. Dr. Mary King, another of the four, is a native of Tennessee and has been serving as a missionary since 1908. Mr. G. W. Strother is a native of Louisiana, and his wife a native of Omaha, Neb. They were appointed missionaries in 1925. All are stationed at Pochow.

CANADIAN LANDS ON MEDILL'S CHIN

Women Compose Complete Fire Fighting Unit

PITTSBURGH, July 22—(AP)—The next time there's a fire in Chalfont borough, just outside of Pittsburgh, the big fire truck will roar out of the station house with Mary Fedoris driving the machine. Mary's mother, Mrs. Mary Fedoris, will be there too, to act as assistant to Mrs. Sara Long, the chief, and these women will direct an attack on the flames entirely by women.

The trouble has been that when the menfolk are at work, the town has been without fire protection. So the women have organized a fire company of their own.

Doctor Claims Goiter Caused by Germs and Not by Lack of Iodine

PARIS, July 22—(A.P.)—Dr. E. O. Houba of Tacoma, Wash., has told the international congress for the study of microbes, in a paper, that a goiter is caused by bacteria and not by a deficiency in iodine, the generally accepted theory.

Dr. Houba said he had isolated and cultivated goiter bacteria.

Later the physician told the Paris edition of the Chicago Tribune that he believed in the iodine theory until ten years ago, but after five years of study and experiment had become convinced of the bacterial origin.

Dr. Houba also said he had developed a method by which germs could be cultivated from every goiter tissue.

One hundred American physicians and laboratory experts are attending the congress, which opened yesterday at the Pasteur institute and will last five days.

Genoa, Nevada's oldest settlement, had a 1930 population of 216.

NATIONAL DODGE DEMONSTRATION MONTH

TRUE ECONOMY is more than price deep

Total cost, not merely purchase price, determines the economy of a motor car. And so great are the ownership economies of Dodge Brothers motor cars that in final cost they actually prove less expensive than many cars lower in purchase price.

The Dodge Six and Eight-in-Line are deliberately built better than just good enough. The chassis is extra sturdy. Bearings are extra fine and extra large. Every material and every manufacturing operation is gauged to an excess margin of excellence. Less wear, longer life, lower upkeep are the natural results.

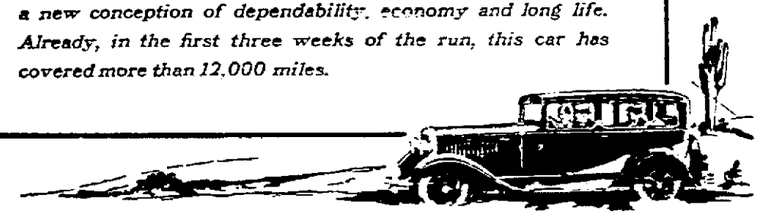

Sturdy, efficient Dodge engines get the most out of fuel and oil. The safe, silent Mono-Piece Steel Bodies require no maintenance expense. The internal hydraulic brakes are self-equalizing—need no adjustments nor lubrication—increase the life of tires.

If you want a car to do something more than merely take you places, if you want to motor with comfort, pride, peace of mind and lasting satisfaction and economy, a Dodge Six or Eight-in-Line is the car you should own. Drive one and learn that Dodge economy goes hand in hand with brilliant performance.

RED SILENCE

BY KATHLEEN NORRIS.

The story thus far: Dory Garrison living a Bohemian existence in New York, finds herself supplanted by Perdita Patrick in the affections of Bruce Macgowan, playwright. She leaves for California, via ship, in charge of a small boy.

CHAPTER 5.

All through the long seventeen days of the slow sea trip, Porter and another little boy, whose mother had a tiny baby to manage, and who could pay scant attention to the older child, enjoyed what they called "paper skipping" with a zest that amazed Dory Garrison. She made the paper skips every night by bunching a double newspaper into a sort of butterfly tied firmly in the centre with a long string. Day after day she went with the two small boys to the very stern of the ship and sat down in the shade of a little oil house, where the anchors and ropes were neatly stacked, and the two children hung on the rail and trolled with their paper skips.

Byron's harassed father was always glad to surrender him to Dory. The baby kept Byron's parents awake all night long, every night fact that meant little to anyone else, and everything to them. While Byron was with the kind Miss Garrison who was in charge of the little Pennoyer boy, Byron's parents and his infant sister were all asleep.

Dory sat watching them, numb, dazed, and vaguely dreaming. Twenty-four hours after the sailing from New York had assured her that she really had escaped from all the old associations and environments, panic seized her, the terror that she would never mean anything again to Mabel and Bruce and Terry shook her like a fever and chill.

She spent the second evening on board writing Bruce an eloquent little letter, telling him just what she was doing, where she would be.

The letter was mailed in the fascinating Spanish streets of Havana. Porter's father, crushed and silent, making a painful and visible effort, met Dory and Porter, there at the dock, and kissed a little boy who was agitated asking Dory, over the paternal shoulder, if he and Byron could sail their skips tomorrow, then?

"She's a lovely person, Betty"—he spoke of his wife—"Betty would wish it to be this way. But I wish I could keep the little fellow down here with me."

"It's lucky, while he's so little, that his aunt wants him so," Dory offered mildly.

"That's what I keep telling myself. It's a big family and a lovely home. My sister— Mary —has five children of her own."

"But older than little Port?"

"Oh, yes, almost grown. You love Miss Garrison, don't you sonny?" the older Porter said for the baby was now jamming wet kisses against Dory's mouth, and scrambling upward toward her lap.

"Come on, Port, we'll walk out to the gangplank with Daddy."

"Is that gong the visitors' gong?"

The man shouldered his son.

"Kiss Dad, old man. I don't know when I'll see you again."

"I kissed joo on jore nose," said little Porter, who was in a silly mood.

The lights of the tropical port faded away into velvety blackness. To Dory, alone at the dark rail, there came the faint cadences of the orchestra.

She thought of her letter, speeding already to Bruce and laughed contemptuously to herself.

"You poor simpleton, nearly breaking your neck to get away, and then weakening like that! He won't be in much doubt as to what you think of him.

Three days out of San Francisco everything turned suddenly cold and gray, and the wind whistled, and the sea was rougher.

San Diego, rising on brown hills, tree smothered, framed in long lines of lazy white surf, was dreamy and hot again. At Los Angeles Porter got a heavy cold. Dory told herself passively that they would be in San Francisco tomorrow—not that it mattered.

It was all very different from her expectations. It was amazing to find San Francisco cool and gray, wrapped in pure clean fog.

But even as they docked, the fog lifted and a hundred flashing colours came out in strengthening sunshine.

A handsome, squarely built woman with a tall smiling boy accompanying her was suddenly beside Dory.

"Miss Garrison? We've been looking for you everywhere!"

"Is it Mrs. Penfield?"

"Yes," said the other expectantly. "Where's the child?"

Dory looked at the boy for sympathy, and received it—"I didn't want particularly to call attention to him," she explained "He's not—very well."

"But what did the doctor say?"

"I didn't ask him. I was afraid the whole ship might be quarantined for what is probably——"

"You didn't see the doctor! Where is he? Is the child in bed? I must see the doctor at once." The seventeen year old boy grimmingly interposed and laid a restraining hand on her arm.

"Mother: don't you get it? Miss ——She knows they'll hold the kid, and maybe the whole ship, for weeks if they get onto it."

Mrs. Penfield, whose impetuosity was moving her to quick steps in this direction and that, and anxious glances everywhere, halted.

"Oh——Oh, I see," she said, in a tone that fell rapidly to one of appreciation and conspiracy. "Oh, I see."

"Where is he, my dear?" she asked in the kindest tone Dory had yet heard from her.

"He's right here in his deck chair. He appears to have a little fever," Dory said. "But I could dress him, and we walked right through medical inspection, and it seemed so much wiser to get him ashore, and into his own bed. I warned the father of the child he's been playing with——"

"Oh, my dear, my dear, my dear, you are quite right!" Mrs. Penfield said fervently. "We'll get him right ashore. We'll not even wait for the trunks. You wait for the trunks, Thurston, and I'll send Stringy back for you. My daughter's waiting on the dock," she said, hurrying along with Dory toward the deck chair where little Porter, somewhat heavy and languid to the experienced eye, but dressed and ready to disembark, was waiting, half asleep.

Between the two women he then walked on his own feet along the splintery pier, between bales and crates, shouting men, and banging trunks. A car was parked just outside the dock railing, with a pretty girl reading in it. This was Rhoda Penfield; she looked with sympathy and interest at little Porter, looked with mild surprise at her sternly executive mother.

"Miss Garrison's coming down to the house, Mother?" she asked, in a cheerful, idle tone that contrasted strangely with her mother's agitated manner.

"Rhoda, do for heaven's sake stop talking nonsense!" Mrs. Penfield said sharply. "This child has got something, and every minute you waste here chattering may be vital. I've got to have Ballard see him. Of course Miss Garrison is coming home with us; she's the only person the poor child knows at all."

"Didn't the ship's doctor know?" Rhoda asked.

"If we had consulted the ship's doctor," Mrs. Penfield said, with her own prompt, capable air of common sense, "he'd've been on board for days—maybe weeks. It's nothing, probably, but excitement and a cold and change of climate——"

"And a touch of leprosy and of typhus," Rhoda added drily. "I thought that was against the law," she suggested.

"Is it?" Dory exclaimed.

"Smuggling a cantagious disease off a vessel?"

"But I didn't know he had anything contagious," Dory said, distressed.

At this Rhoda narrowed her eyes and laughed.

"I can see you're deep, Miss Garrison," she said simply.

"Rhoda, dear, will you stop talking and get us home?"

"Gladly, Mother dear."

They were threading the cluttered traffic of the Embarcadero now, working their way through trucks and taxi-cabs, gonging street cars and lines of persons hurrying to or sauntering away from the ferry.

They went past docks where the enormous ships were drawn up very closely, and were immediately out in the country, a country of small Spanish houses and carefully tended little gardens and long lines of towering eucalyptus trees.

The open fields looked strangely burned and dry to Dory, as did the whirling water sprinklers in the gardens and on the lawns; the drowsy air was sweet with the scent of the brush fires and a thousand delicious hot flower odours. Dory liked it all, her heart was singing. Nothing in the world could keep her from Bruce's letter, and whatever it said would fall like manna into her little starving heart.

"Children often get upset travelling," Mrs. Penfield said, studying Porter's unconscious little face concernedly. "You darling baby!" she said. "Rhoda," she added, in her characteristic tone of capability and energy, "We'll have to put the boys and Julia down in the cottage. If it is anything catching——"

"Why not put Kate and little Porter here in the Cottage?" Rhoda shot in swiftly.

"Oh, I see," Mrs. Penfield said. "You mean—yes, I see. Not take him into the big house at all—I see. Well, yes that would be the best way, certainly, I see."

The car went through high brick gateposts smothered in vines and followed a winding road to a square, broad, three-storied mansion, with its brick walls painted a mellow white and traced with the fingers of flowering vines. "We're there!" said Rhoda.

ZONING TANGLE OVER JUNK YARD

Stine Request Opposed As Marring Highway Route Into City.

Contending that all principal thoroughfares into the city should be zoned for commercial use instead of for industrial purposes, L. M. Troup, head of the street department, Monday continued his fight against allowing the Louis Stine estate to open a junk yard just outside the city limits on Seventh street and the S. Y. A. Highway.

Mr. Troup also claims it is unfair to the people of the vicinity to permit the business to be established.

Discussion of the recommendations of the zoning board waxed warm at times. Mayor Love argued for approval of the permit. Troup led the contending forces against it, being joined by E. M. Bair and at times by Commissioner Schroeder.

Third Time Considered.

This is the third Monday the recommendation that the permit be granted has been before the council, after having been before the zoning board of appeals. The zoning board's approval is contingent upon the owners of the property building a high fence around the 152 by 200 tract.

The discussion ended with the council referring the application back to the zoning board for reconsideration.

Miss Helen Tuttle also attended the meeting, pressing for a permit to install a miniature golf course at the northwest corner of Thirty-first and O streets. Her application has been before the zoning board, and denial was recommended. Upon the motion of Mayor Love the request was sent back to the board with the request that only the two lots on O street be considered for rezoning, or for a temporary permit.

The recommendation of the zoning board that O. A. Taylor be granted a permit for local business use of 150 feet square on O street west of his present zoning at the southwest corner of Cotner boulevard and O street, was approved by the council. C. V. Tillman, applicant for a local business classification at Idylwild drive and Holdrege street, was denied a permit for the change.

The outcome of the Stine controversy will probably determine the action of two out-of-town firms in locating here. It is known that a Pacific coast company has a representative in Lincoln looking for a junk yard location. A representative of another company also is here and both are watching the outcome of the matter.

As a result of the three weeks' fight between the councilmen over the Stine application, a study has been started in an effort to strengthen the regulations governing junk yards. One proposal that is being considered favorably is that permits for this type of business be granted only for a month at a time.

U. S. and German Talkie Interests Sign Agreement

PARIS, July 22—(AP)—American and German motion picture and electrical interests today signed an agreement which settles differences over the use of recording and reproducing patents in the motion picture industry.

The Americans, headed by Will H. Hays, started conferring with German sound film interests in mid-June and reached an agreement July 12 which had to be submitted to the German ministry of the interior.

It provided for the complete interchangeability of motion pictures, sound recording and reproducing apparatus between the interests involved.

The agreement was put into the form of a legal document for the complete interchange between the interests involved.

The agreement was put into the form of a legal document for the complete interchange between American and German interests of patent rights and manufacturing and technical information so that each could enter the other country with pictures.

Provision was male for the licensing of manufacturers of other nationalities so that the result of the contract was to further the improvement of sound motion pictures throughout the world.

That's That
Marconi's New Baby
Governor Smith Builds
Lowest Wheat in 16 Years
By ARTHUR BRISBANE

The senate, yesterday afternoon, confirmed the naval treaty, neatly constructed by Britain and Japan, to limit the fighting power of our ships.

The chief and ablest officers in our navy wanted 8-inch guns throwing 260-pound shells. We get, by order and permission of Japan and Britain, 6-inch guns, throwing 105-pound shells. Senator McKellar of Tennessee says we shall "spend a billion and be weaker at sea than we are." Congratulations are in order, for Britain and Japan.

Marconi, Italian electrical genius, and his wife have a little girl, just born. The mother certainly is disappointed, the father probably. Mothers want boys, to please fathers, fathers want boys to gratify their own vanity.

Fortunately nature interferes.

According to laws of heredity, daughters inherit and hand on to their children, the genius of their fathers.

A son inherits the father's genius rarely. You can count the really great sons of great fathers on the fingers of two hands. Marconi has three daughters, two by his first wife, no sons.

Former Governor Alfred E. Smith, erecting a building on Fifth avenue in New York, where the Waldorf-Astoria hotel used to be, intends that it shall be a real building. It will have 102 stories, and rise 1,222 feet above Fifth avenue, 20 per cent higher than any building ever erected by man, hitherto, excepting, of course, the Tower of Babel.

Even so, ex-Governor Smith's structure of brick and steel will be small compared with the monument of votes that he piled up in the last campaign.

His vote was almost 100 per cent greater than that ever cast for a democratic presidential candidate.

Rather sad and dull in Wall street yesterday, not a good beginning for the brokers' week. Prices down, dismal, "minus" signs were scattered all through the list.

Money went begging. You could borrow all you wanted at 2 per cent, or lower.

Cotton was very weak. And wheat, rocked in the protecting arms of Uncle Sam, was much feebler and unhealthier than in old days when rough "supply and demand" ruled it.

Politicians believe that wheat will be the big factor in the western elections, with prices the lowest in 16 years.

The government was going to fix everything, through its farm board, and did invest millions, with painful results.

For a campaign song, farmers might rewrite the sad old tune: "You Told Me I'd Be Happy, but No Happiness I See."

Stockholders and lawyers objecting to a merger of Bethlehem and another steel company discover that Eugene G. Grace, head of the Bethlehem company, is paid a salary of $12,000 and got a bonus in 1929 of $1,623,753.

Some stockholders think the money should have gone to them, not to Grace.

They may be right, but the probability is that the Grace bonus was money wisely spent.

Iron ore, fuel and machinery are plentiful, but brains that know how to utilize them are hard to find.

Gandhi's followers have a new idea. Instead of spending one full hour every morning in prayer, as is the custom in India, the Hindus of different castes start out at 5 o'clock in the morning and sing "hymns of hate against England."

They are mild hymns, compared with some produced in the World war. They only advise Hindus to wear homespun, boycott British goods, etc.

What the gods of the Hindus, Parsees and others will think about substituting hymns for morning prayers remain to be seen.

More rioting and trouble in Egypt, 123 hurt. Egypt is far away and that is hardly news.

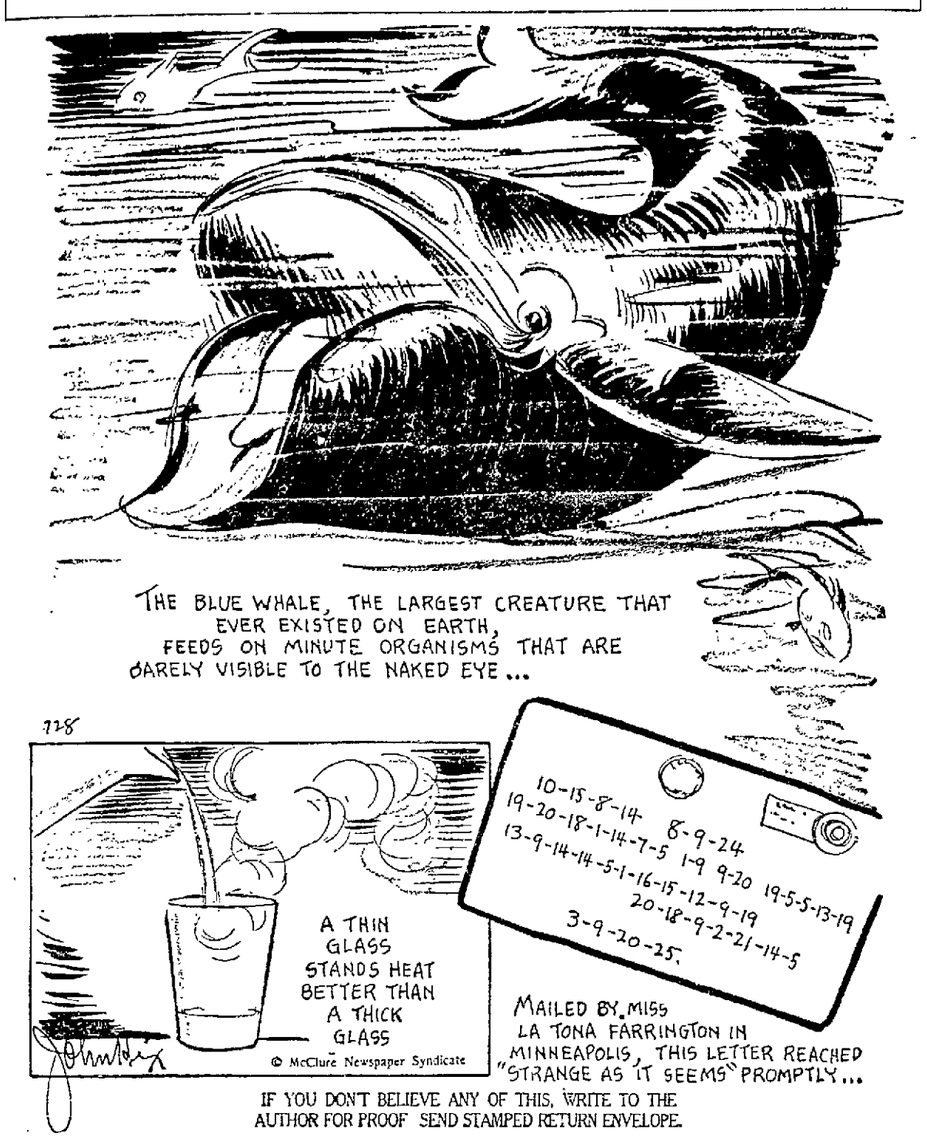

In New York, where this is written, the thermometer at the moment stands at 96. Twenty-eight are said to be dead. In some cases other things beside the temperature are to blame. In Ohio the mercury went to 110.

That is very hot for Ohio, but on California's Mojave desert, where the winds blows from the Pacific ocean, 110 is just a nice alfalfa growing temperature, not too hot for hard work.

The American Research Foundation announces that this summer $13.72 will feed a family of four for a week, giving all necessary food values and "intriguing summer menus." That may be true in theory, but one writer can testify that to board men working on a farm costs at least $40 a week for four men, and their summer menu is not at all "intriguing."

KONJOLA MADE FRIEND OF THIS COLLEGE MAN

University Student Eager To Tell of Experience With New Medicine.

Men and women of all ages and from all walks of life continue to turn to Konjola, the new and different medicine, and find in its amazing merit the relief many of them have sought for months, or even years.

MR. CLYDE WILDERSON.

This is not strange when it is considered that Konjola's 32 ingredients were so blended as to attack the very source of ailments of the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels, and rheumatism, neuritis and nervousness. Konjola should in most cases, be taken with regularity until six or eight bottles have been used. The accumulated poisons are thus removed, the ailing organs are stimulated and Nature is free to begin her work of restoring health. The experience of Mr. Clyde J. Wilderson, a student at Nebraska University, residing at 1124 N street, Lincoln, reveals a fair example of the power of this famed medicine. But there is more to be learned from the Konjola Man at the Fitzgerald drug store, Thirteenth and N streets, Lincoln. See him there today and learn all about the medicine in which you put your money, your faith and your hope. Here is the interesting experience of Mr. Wilderson:

"I was badly run down and nervous. I did not sleep well at night after study hours. I was badly constipated and forced to use laxatives frequently. I had heard my friends tell of the great results they had received from this medicine and I had not finished the first bottle before I began to sleep well at night. I could do away with laxatives as my bowels had become regulated. My work at school was easier because I was getting the needed rest. I am a well man today and can recommend this new medicine to anyone suffering as I did. It certainly gave me plenty of life and vigor as it will anyone who will take it. It sure made a friend of me."

What Konjola did for Mr. Wilderson it can do for you—for anyone. After all, does not the experience of other sincere men and women mean much to you. You owe it to yourself to try Konjola today.

The Konjola Man is at the Fitzgerald Drug store Thirteenth and N streets, Lincoln, where he is meeting the public daily, explaining the merits of this new and different medicine.

PARIS, July 22—(AP)—Dieudonne Coste was all set today for his trans Atlantic flight to New York, accompanied by Maurice Bellonte, and is held up now only by unfavorable weather.

The noted airman yesterday finished the last of his trial flights and made final tests of the wireless apparatus.

Hijackers Carry Off $80,000 Of Mince Meat Rum

CHICAGO, July 22— (AP) —The mince meat may seem a little weak next winter. Hijackers made away with the rum last night.

Forty barrels of the liquor, used in the manufacture of mince meat, was stolen last night from the warehouse of Libby, McNeill and Libby in the union stockyards. The bootleg value of the stolen rum was placed at $80,000.

Seven robbers, wearing overalls, held fourteen employes at bay, spent an hour in rolling the barrelled rum to a truck and escaped after exchanging shots with a special policeman. The robbers apparently had entered the warehouse in mid-afternoon and mingled with the workers until quitting time. They produced pistols, herded employes into an office and then detailed one of their number to accompany the watchman on his rounds, to make certain that he rang his boxes regularly.

HOUSE PROBERS JEERED BY REDS

Committee Greeted By Boos and Catcalls at Communist Camps.

NEW YORK, July 22—(AP)—The congressional committee investigating communist activities was back in New York City today after a visit to red camps where the members heard themselves called a "fascist fishing expedition."

The committee, which is headed by Representative Hamilton Fish, jr., yesterday visited Camp Nitgedaiget, which means "Dont worry," about three miles south of Newburgh, and Camp Unity near Beacon, N. Y.

A witness had described the camps as places where children of the Gastonia, N. C., textile strikers were being taught to salute the red flag.

Boos, jeers and catcalls greeted the congressmen and their escort of state police and detectives at both camps.

Mass Meeting is Held.

At Camp Nitgedaiget the visit was made the subject of an impromptu mass meeeting of about 300 radical campers attired in bathing suits, who were waiting for dinner.

Jack Perilla, a red-haired young communist, harangued the committeemen in behalf of his comrades. He said:

"This meeting is called as a protest against the fascist fishing committee. I would like to say to the committee that they are here by sufferance. They are on private property. They ought to understand this for they are supposed to have respect for private property."

Representative Eslick of the committee described many of the red campers as being "clad in climate and clothed in sunshine."

VAST QUANTITY WHEAT RECEIVED

Over Million and Half Bushels Reaches Omaha Monday.

OMAHA, July 21— (A.P.) — A million and a quarter dollars worth of Nebraska's wheat crop rolled into Omaha Monday in 987 grain crs. This shipment, which approached the all time record, was considered particularly remarkable in view of the unfavorable price situation.

The value of the grain, fixed on a basis of 80.8 cents per bushel, was estimated at $1,275,994. In bushels, the shipments totalled 1,579,200.

Contrasted with the peak price last year of $1.35 per bushel, the shipment when estimated in value at the average price quoted Monday, represents a loss in value of $855,926 from what a farmer selling at the peak price last year would have realized.

Dr. Angelescu, Shot By Student, Is Improved

BUCHAREST, July 22—(AP)— The condition of Dr. Constantine Angelescu, the victim of shots fired by a student yesterday, was improved somewhat today and physicians will operate to remove the five bullets.

COFFEYVILLE, Kas., July 22—(AP)—Carlysle Cullison, 10, and his brother, Isaac, 8, yesterday confessed they had stoned to death their cousin, Donald Fox, 8, and thrown his body into the Verdigris river.

Police questioned the pair when their cousin's battered body was recovered. The boys said they had engaged in a rock fight during which Donald was knocked down, struck in the head with another stone, and his body carried to the river and tossed in.

The two boys said they had concealed their cousin's clothes and invented a story about his drowning to tell their elders.

DEATH COMES TO A. J. KNEPPER

Custer County Pioneer and Former Member of State Senate.

Andrew Jackson Knepper, 88, a pioneer of Custer county and a former member of the Nebraska state senate, died at 11:30 o'clock Monday night at his home, 2045 Pepper avenue. He had been ill for several months.

Mr. Knepper was born in Franklin county, Pennsylvania, Feb. 22, 1842. In 1863 with his family he moved to Ohio and later to Indiana. In 1869 the family moved to Marion county, Iowa. A year later he married Mary E. Jackson, who survives him.

In 1871, with his bride, Mr.

ANDREW J. KNEPPER.

Knepper moved to Custer county and settled on an eighty-acre homestead which is now the site of Arcadia. During his residence in that county he was a member of the county board for eight years and was a school director for several terms.

In 1899 he was elected as a democratic representative to the state senate and served for one session. In 1903 he purchased a farm near David City where he lived for six years. He had been a resident of Lincoln since that time.

Mr. Knepper was a staunch supporter of the democratic party. When he first went to David City he walked five miles before he was able to find another democrat. He cast his first vote for George B. McLellan in 1864 and had voted a democratic ticket ever since. He was a member of the First Baptist church and the Knife and Fork club.

Besides his wife he is survived by four sons, Cyrus Eugene of Thedford, Grover C. of Elk Creek, George A. of Los Angeles and William A. of Mansfield, Wash.; three daughters, Mrs. Ida D. Dundore of Manhattan, Kas., Mrs. Kathryn Schlueter of Kenesaw and Miss Ruby at home. Funeral arrangement are pending.

LEAVENWORTH, Kas., July 21—(AP)—Arrest of a mother and daughter yesterday brought to nine the number of persons charged by federal agents with supplying narcotics to prisoners in the Leavenworth federal prison.

The two women, Mrs. John W. Ford, Louisville, Ky., arrested at Leavenworth, and Mrs. Paul Webster, her daughter, arrested at Kansas City, are accused of dealing with Charles C. Drake, a former prison guard, arrested Thursday night. Paul Webster, husband of the woman, is a prison inmate.

Other persons arrested include Dr. Jennie Van Eps, Tonga-noxie, Kas. physician; George Lama, Fred Bolton and Otis Remer, described by officers as patients at her hospital, and Eugene Davis, a resident at the United States Soldiers' home at Leavenworth.

MEAT PRICES DROP DURING PAST YEAR

Farm Board Member Says Retail Dealers Co-operating For Wider Distribution.

WASHINGTON, July 22—(AP)—Thrifty ersons in Philadelphia and Chicago who like beefsteak and roast have an advantage over their brethren in New York.

Commenting on the reductions in the retail price of beef for the year ending July 15, C. B. Denman, federal farm board member, said the decline in retail beef prices in Philadelphia and Chicago had been greater than those in the eastern meteropolis. He said in Philadelphia the decline in cheaper prices of beef averaged 12 cents a pound and in Chicago 11 cents. In New York the decline was from 3 to 6 cents a pound.

Denman said, while no figures had been compiled, letters to the farm board from Kansas City, St. Louis, Fort Worth and St. Paul indicated large price reductions by retail meat dealers. He added this showed that retail dealers were co-operating to make possible a wider distribution of their products.

KOREA COUNTS 390 TYPHOON VICTIMS

Total Known Japanese Loss Is 472, With Undiscovered Dead Expected To Number in Hundreds.

TOKYO, July 22—An official death toll of 472 persons with indications the unknown dead in last Friday's typhoon would number into the hundreds, was reported today in returns printed in Seoul and Tokyo.

Eastern Korea especially Kogendo province, was sorely stricken. A Seoul dispatch to Renco News agency showed the Korean losses as 390 dead; 1,438 missing and believed dead; 205 injured, and 8,475 houses destroyed.

Official figures for Kyushu island, southern Japan, where the typhoon struck first, showed 82 known dead; 75 missing, 425 injured, and 18,890 houses destroyed, 21,786 houses damaged and 1,800 boats sunk or missing.

The typhoon struck Korea while it still was suffering from the effects of floods which had killed at least 285 persons and made thousands homeless.

Transfer Damage Suit—Transcript of a $20,000 damage suit from the District court of Otoe county was filed in Federal court Tuesday morning. Benjamin Verni Kennison is suing the Missouri Pacific railroad for alleged permanent disability. Kennison claims a train backed into an automobile in which he was riding near the village of Union.

Files Suit— Florence Antrobus filed suit in District court Tuesday morning asking separate maintenance. The action was brought against Roy E. Antrobus on grounds of artificial gas inspections, also and cruelty. She wants custody of a child and money for its support. The couple was married at Jacksonville, Ill., December 9, 1925.

Fights Vacating Alleys—An application for the vacating of an alley in Bethany was the signal for the continuation of a "kick" that Commissioner Schroeder has been making in the city council for at least two years. "I am absolutely opposed to giving away city property," he declared. "Once it is gone it is impossible to get it back. Lincoln is growing and who of us knows but that in a few years conditions will make it necessary that these alleys that are being vacated will have to come back to the city."

Permit Is Denied—The city council denied an application Monday for a permit to operate an automobile on the streets with the driver wearing a blindfold. Traffic conditions make it "too dangerous," in the opinion of the councilmen.

Approves Contracts — The city council approved a contract with the General Automotive Co. for the purchase of an air compressor for the paving repair department. The bid was $1,640. A contract with the Reimers-Kaufman Co. for the paving of the alley between C and D and Seventeenth and Eighteenth streets also was approved. The contract price is $1,264 55.

Commissioners Get Bids—County commissioners received bids Tuesday morning for a silo for the county farm. Three bids were received, one for silo materials, one for materials and labor and one for labor only. The bids were taken under advisement by the board, promising action next Tuesday. The board also approved a petition asking appointment of J. R. C. Miller as justice of the peace in Denton precinct.

Asks Divorce — Minnie Johnson filed suit in District court early Tuesday asking a divorce from Albin J. Johnson. She asks custody of the child, temporary and permanent alimony and support money. She alleges that she inherited a substantial sum of money, and that it was squandered and wasted by her husband, who failed to support her, according to the petition. She also alleges that he left home six months ago. The couple was married August 24 1916, in Mediapolis, Ia.

Files Report—Dr. F. M. Arnholt, superintendent of health, filed with the city clerk Tuesday his report of meat inspections for June. It shows fees aggregating $95.85. Of this $92.85 was for meat inspections, and the balance for milk inspection. Of 352 cattle inspected, five were condemned, and five of 1,102 hogs were rejected. Sixty-one calves were inspected and accepted. The report of articicial gas inspections, also filed by Dr. Arnholt, showed a BTU content of 605.7 for the month. The requirement is 500.

Condemns Tree-Sitting—A strong indictment of tree-sitting contests was expressed Tuesday morning by Dr. M. F. Arnholt, city superintendent of health. Long exposure to the elements, and scanty and improper food and rest over long periods of time are certain to result disastrously for children as well as adults, the physician said. Parents should not permit their children to engage in endurance contests of any kind, which require irregular habits producing shock to the entire system. Dr. Arnholt declared.

Junior Band to Practice — The junior section of the Lincoln civic boys band will rehearse and practice marching Tuesday afternoon at Antelope park beginning at 4:30 o'clock, Friday evening at 6.30 o'clock, both the seniors and juniors will take part in a joint rehearsal at the park in preparation for a parade downtown soon. Peterson Receives Abstract For 100 Acre Park Addition

F. A. Peterson, city attorney, Tuesday had received from E. M. Westervelt, head of the land department of the Burlington here, the abstract for the 100 acres given to the city by John F. Harris of New York City, when he was here for the dedication of Pioneers park, which Mr. Harris also gave to the city. The additional gift will adjoin the park at the southwest corner. It is 2,138.92 feet along the north side, 2,125.7 feet along the south side and the east and west boundaries are 2,042 feet long. In his letter to the city attorney, Mr. Westervelt said the deed is being prepared and should be completed soon.

After the deed arrives it is the purpose of Commissioner Barr, head of the park department, to fence the tract. A fence then will probably be run through it from east to west and the south half used for a buffalo pasture, and for the elk. The deer will be given a separate feeding place of about ten or fifteen acres. About five acres of the southeast corner of the tract is covered with water from Indian lake. This will be accessible to both groups of animals.

According to Mr. Barr, the animals will not be taken to Pioneers park until after the appropriations for 1930-31 have been made by the city council. There is only enough money available now to build the fences, he said. When this is done other work also will be necessary and there is not enough to do it all, at once.

There are also two brothers, Thomas and Sam Liesveld, of Holland, and one sister, Mrs. Sarah Kuster of Omaha; thirty grandchildren, and a number of great-grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the Holland Reformed church, conducted by Rev. John TeSelle of Matlock, Ia. Interment in Holland cemetery.

Frank Liesveld was born in New York state, December 17, 1852. He moved to Muscoda, Wis., where he married Miss Kraus on January 22, 1874. They moved to Nebraska in 1876, and settled on a farm near Holland. They moved to Holland from the farm in 1917.

BROKEN BOW NORRIS TELLS OF HIS FILING

not legal and then early Saturday morning we left for Fairfax. I did not see a newspaper announcing that Senator Nye was going to Broken Bow until Saturday night. I thought there was plenty of time. Then this morning I read that they thought I was hiding out. We started for Lincoln immediately but the muddy roads delayed us. I expected to get here earlier."

Immediately upon reaching Lincoln Norris said he called Paul Johnson his attorney and asked him to tell Senator Nye that he was ready to be questioned.

"I don't believe they wanted to question me or they would have found time this evening before they left," Norris said.

Candidacy His Own Idea.

Questioned regarding the charges that he had been encouraged or paid by some anti-Norris interest to become a candidate, the Broken Bow man made an unqualified denial. He explained that his candidacy was entirely his own idea.

"I have believed for sometime and I still believe that if my name had stayed on the republican primary ticket I could have forced Norris to withdraw and run as an independent. I believe that then I would have won the republican nomination hands down. After that, with the republican party designation behind my name next fall I could have beaten Senator Norris in the end."

When interviewed Monday evening, Norris told The Star that he was considering entering the general election this fall as an independent candidate for the United States senate.

"Senator Norris said he would run as an independent if my name was permitted to remain on the ballot, and there is no reason why I can't run as an independent now that I have been ruled out of the primaries."

Norris said he expected to make his decision after consulting his attorney, Paul Johnson.

Returns To Old Job.

Before leaving for Broken Bow Tuesday morning, however, he left word saying that he had decided to return to work with the Skaggs Safeway company and would not be a candidate next November as an independent.

While discussing the possibility of his running as an independent candidate, Norris admitted that his finances would hardly permit the expenditure that would be necessary to secure petitions and carry on a campaign this fall.

"I could do it easily," he remarked with a smile," if Senator Nye can locate that $60,000 he seems to think is on hand to beat Senator Norris. I think I could beat him with that much money behind me."

Doesn't Like Senior Senator.

The Broken Bow man expressed strong opposition to Senator Norris, asserting that the "has made jackasses out of the republicans of Nebraska for years. He also charged that Norris has forgotten western Nebraska and its needs.

Questioned regarding the fact that he had signed withdrawal papers at the same time that he made his filing, Norris explained.

"It looked at that time like the republicans would be able to get some of the other candidates out of the race and center on one to oppose Senator Norris in the primaries. I thought at that time that McKelvie would get in the race. If that had happened and the republican party had suggested that I also withdraw as a means of bringing about Senator Norris' defeat, I wanted to be ready. I would have got out of the race then. As it is I'm out anyway," he added.

Asked further regarding his finances, Norris expressed some resentment because Senator Nye had made his bank accounts public at Broken Bow, but explained the reason so little was found to his credit was because he kept his money in stocks and bonds.

"I have been in three bank failures," he added by way of explanation.

Being called "Senator Norris" would not be so strange the Broken Bow man admitted. He was called "Senator" as a nickname for years. He further emphasized that he has always used the name "George W. Norris" and wished it known that he had not assumed or twisted it.

Probe Will Be Continued.

At the close of the hearing Monday afternoon, Senator Gerald P. Nye indicated that the investigation would continue but probably not until after the primary elections have been held.

"By coming out here at this time we have been able to obtain certain information that might not have been available at a later date, but," he added, "should the committee return before the primary election it might be felt that the continuance of the hearing would be of benefit or detriment to those candidates who are now in the race for the nomination."

He said that a subpoena would be served on the Broken Bow man and that the U. S. marshal would be instructed to keep in touch with him in order that he might be available for questioning when the committee returns.

Senator Nye, although informed that Norris was on his way to Lincoln, found it necessary to leave for Chicago at 8 p. m. in order to meet his schedule in Chicago where he expected to resume the investigation of Ruth Hanna McCormick's campaign expenditures.

Frank P. Corrick of Lincoln and Clarence A. Davis o Holdrege, two of the witnesses called for questioning Monday afternoon made complete denials of having any part in or knowledge of the candidacy of the Broken Bow man.

Davis told Nye that he is attorney for the Western Public Service company and added that he has had very specific instructions from that company not to involve either himself or the company in any political manipulation.

"I have followed those instructions to the letter," he said.

Federal Official Surveys Condition Irrigated Crops

A representative of the federal reclamation bureau, with R. G. Willis, state irrigation supervisor, is now making a survey of the crop conditions and water situation in the lower Platte Valley between North Platte and Kearney, according to work received by Governor Weaver Tuesday from Senator H. B. Howell.

The survey is being made in connection with the demand of lower river irrigators that the federal government release water from the Pathfinder and Guernsey reservoirs.

POWER SALESMEN END CONFERENCE

Rural Electrification Discussed at Tuesday Session By Men From Three States.

Seventy-five sales managers and salesmen from three states of the Iowa-Nebraska Light and Power Co. closed their two day conference at the Lindell hotel Tuesday with a discussion of rural electrification. The morning session was devoted to electrical refrigeration.

F. H. Gunther, assistant general manager and superintendent of operation, was the main speaker at the noon luncheon. He spoke on co-ordination of sales and operation departments.

Among the topics discussed at the rural electrification session were milkers, chore motors, feed grinders, brooders, incubators, refrigeration and water systems.

The speakers of the day included J. M. Walker and H. O. H. Quinn of the General Electric Co., Cleveland; A. C. Storz, H. H. Katskee, A. J. Prather, D. A. Kally, and H. P. Kinney of the Storz Electric Refrigeration Co., Omaha; J. C. Marlow, Mankato, Minn.; C. R. Bruce of the Dempster Manufacturing Co., Beatrice; W. L. Burgess of the Prater Pulverizer Co., Omaha; George A. Spencer of the Oakes Manufacturing Co., Tipton, Ind.; and H. J. Counsell of the General Electric Co., Omaha. Monday's session was devoted to accounting and sales problems, with President F. H. Brooks the luncheon speaker.

Municipalities May Halt Highway Traffic

Entitled To Place Stop Buttons On Through Roads and Have Motorists Regard Them.

City and village thoroughfares take a precedence over through state highways when it comes to a question of stop or slow signs being placed on one or the other, according to an opinin given Tuesday by Attorney General Sosensen.

The question has been raised where towns have erected signs haltin gstate highway traffic at certain intersections with the city streets which bear particularly heavy traffic. Waverly residents wish to stop traffic on the D. L. D. in deference to north and south traffic through the town. There, it is argued that the village street is used by children to and from school and the sto psign is needed to insure their safety.

The public works department has opposed the halting of the state highway traffi cat Waverly and other places where the same question has arisen. The matter was brought to the attention of the attorney general by Senator Charles Warner of Waverly, who asked for an opinion regarding the rights of the city.

The attorne ygeneral ruled that a city, town, or village may do whatever is reasonable for the protection of life and limb.

MRS. CRAIG TO SPEAG.

Mrs. Beatrice Fenton Graig, Lincoln woman who recently withdrew from the republican senatorial race as a part of the move to narrow down the list of candidates opposing Senator Norris for the party nomination, will make thre addresses in behalf of Senator W. M. Stebbins and the "stand-pat" party principles, it was announced Tuesday morning. According to present plans she will speak in Omaha and Lincoln and probably Hastings. Definite dates have not been set.

HIKE VALUATION IN 18 COUNTIES

1929, though in a few instances the value per acre will be raised or lowered to correct a manifest inequality.

Proposed Changes.

Following are the provisional percentages of increase or decrease proposed by the state board to be considered at next Monday's hearing, with the value per acre as reported by the county assessor indicated in each instance:

Banner, $6.59 per acre; increased 30 per cent.
Boyd, $28.71, increased 10 per cent.
Box Butte, $11 35, increased 60 per cent.
Burt, $102.86, increased 8 per cent.
Cedar, $93 29, decreased 10 per cent.
Chase, $12 92, increased 10 per cent.
Clay, $68 81, increased 10 per cent.
Custer, $19.11, increased 5 per cent.
Dawson, $40.42, increased 5 per cent.
Dixon, $71 22, increased 15 per cent.
Dodge, $110 00, increased 5 per cent.
Grant, $4 38, increased 60 per cent.
Keith, $11 80, increased 30 per cent.
Knox, $39.21, increased 10 per cent.
Lincoln, $9 54 increased 10 per cent.
Perkins, $15 12, increased 30 per cent.
Saunders, $106 21, increased 5 per cent.
Sheridan, $6 20, increased 15 per cent.
Thayer, $53.10, increased 20 per cent.
Thurston, $90 13, decreased 5 per cent.
Wheeler, $10.32, decreased 10 per cent.
Otoe, $105 07, decreased 2 per cent.

Box Butte Found Too Low.

Although the Box Butte county assessor returned a slight increase of 7 cents an acre over last year, the state board found by comparison with sales values there that there should be a further raise, from $11.33 to $18.13 as an average.

In Boyd county, a big drop was noted in the assessor's report, from $41.46 last year to $28.71 for 1930. Boyd is thought to be entitled to some reducion, but not this much.

Cedar county, whose reported average is 40 cents an acre above 1929, is to be let down 10 per cent to equalize with Knox and Dixon, neighboring counties. In Dixon the county board took off 15 per cent from the assessor's valuations, and and the state board proposes to put that amount back. Knox took off $10 an acre ,of which $3.90 is to be restored.

Thurston county made a voluntary increase of $7 an acre this year; but inasmuch as there was no general increase over the state most of this will be subtracted in the reduction of 5 per cent.

The state board is continuing its scrutiny of personal property assessments in the various counties. It will take action upon these later.

KEARNEY BACKS NORMAL SCHOOL

Erects Fine Dormitory and State Provides Furniture.

The state normal board had a meeting at Kearney, on Monday, and State Superintendent Taylor, who was in attendance, reports that the meeting had to do with important matters, such as the budget for the next biennium and the furnishing of the new dormitory at Kearney. Furniture contracts for the building were let for slightly over $10,000. This includes equipment for 100 rooms, as well as for three reception rooms, tables, chairs and dressers. The dressers ordered were of steel, enameled in twenty different colors to match the various rooms in the building.

The building itself is being financed with private funds and will not cost the taxpayers a cent of money. The furniture is being provided by the state. Girls will be able to room in this modern, fireproof dormitory for $2 a week.

Citizens of Kearney have raised something over $2,000 for improving the athletic field. The alumni and citizens of Kearney have installed a new $7,000 pipe organ in the auditorium. The people of Kearney seem to be very loyal in their support of the normal school, Mr. Taylor said. The commercial club of Kearney has lately sent out over 7,000 special circulars for the advertising of the institution preliminary to next year's work.

The state normal board called for the four presidents to submit a proposed budget for the next meeting of the board on October 6, at Peru. Hitherto the presidents have not been in the habit of furnishing budgets to the board, but have sent them direct to the governors. Superintendent Taylor says that now the board is functioning as a governing board should.

A record is being made in the construction of the building with the erection of the new dormitory. It will be erected, furnished and turned over to the state within ninety days from the time the ground was broken. The furniture, decorations, and all complete will cost only $150,000 for 200 girls. This building will mark an epoch in efficiency of construction, Mr. Taylor thinks.

Blind Flight From Omaha To Washington

Page, Crack Marine Flyer, Sets New Record For Distance In His Closed Cockpit.

WASHINGTON, July 22—(AP)—Captain Arthur Page, crack marine corps flying officer, completed Monday the longest blind flight on record—from Omaha to Washington.

Leaving Omaha at 6 o'clock Monday morning, Page flew entirely by instruments and following radio controlled airways to Chicago, where he brought his plane to within 200 feet of the ground. Lieutenant V. M. Guymon, also a marine, whose cockpit was uncovered, executed the landing.

CHINESE PIRATES SEIZE AND LOOT PASSENGER SHIP

HONG KONG, July 22—(AP)—The Chinese steamer Helikon, which left Hong Kong for Saigon Saturday night with 400 passengers, was seized by pirates, but was released after being looted.

The passengers were robbed, but all were unharmed when the vessel returned here today from Biasbay.

The buccaneers carried out their looting without firing a shot. They had boarded the Helikon as passengers. At a given signal they cut through the grills separating the forward deck from the main portion of the ship when the vessel was one day out of Hong Kong and took possession of the craft.

The ship's officers were treated courteously by the temporary masters of the situation, who nevertheless looted the vessel thoroughly before finally getting away in the ship's boats with fourteen Chinese passengers who are being held for ransom.

Bishop Cannon and His Bride to Stay in South America Till December

S. S. ARLANZA, July 22—(AP)—Bishop James Cannon, jr., of the Methodist Episcopal church, south, who was married in London to his secretary, Mrs. Helen Hawley McCallum last week, plans to remain in South America on church work until next December.

The bishop, who will leave the Arlanza with his bride on their arrival at Madeira, told the Associated Press that after inspecting church work there he will go to Brazil to hold official conferences from August until November.

With regard to his marriage, the bishop simply referred to his message to "The Christian Advocate," a Methodist periodical, in which he announced his marriage at Christ church, London, July 15.

German Communists And Fascists Clash

BERLIN, July 22—(AP)—A campaign of violence started in the southern part of Berlin today when the fascists began tearing down posters put up by communists.

As fast as the bill posters pasted up the placards their opponents obliterated them.

When this had happened a few times the communists expressed their resentment. In the resulting conflict one communist and two bystanders were wounded by flying bullets.

A band, signing itself "Proletarian Free Thinking Youth," painted slogans on two churches.

NICE WHEAT YIELD.

BELLEVILLE, Kas., July 22—Joseph H. Rost of this city had seven acres of wheat on alfalfa ground on his farm in Freedom township that averaged 40 bushels per acre, and his whole acreage of 17 acres made an average 29½ bushels.

Ruth Bryan Owen Mixes Music and Politics with Wheezy Concertina

Ruth Bryan Owen, shown with her 20-year-old concertina, hopes to learn a few new ballads while in London at the inter-parliamentary union.

WASHINGTON—(AP)— Back to London where she got her gay repertoire of music hall ballads, Ruth Bryan Owen of Florida, amateur entertainer extraordinary, goes this month.

Her mission is most dignified, and very official—first woman delegate to represent the United States at the inter-parliamentary union.

But there will be intervals and interludes, and other musical pauses in the serious business of statesmanship. For wherever Ruth Bryan Owen goes, spontaneous songs and impromptu instrumental melodies are on tap for informal occasions.

Adept at playing "by ear," she can improvise on piano, organ, harmonica. But her favorite music-maker is her faithful concertina, veteran of many campaigns, and, if the truth must be told, a bit worn and wheezy now.

She bought it in Jamaica, where hes late husband, Maj. Reginald Owen, British army, was engaged in engineering work after their marriage in 1910.

It went with her to London where she and Mrs. Herbert Hoover held the joint position of secretary and treasurer of the economic committee of the American women's war relief fund.

That was when she began specializing in haunting, romantic London ballads. These stood her in good stead when she went to Egypt in 1915, as army nurse, and became one of a group giving entertainments to soldiers wounded in the Palestine campaign.

Now, in the official society of Washington, they are still in ever-increasing demand.

Mrs. Owen undoubtedly will bring back important data regarding the inter-political relations of nations. But she also will have tucked away in some small corner of her brain a few brand new London music hall ballads.

COUNTY BALANCE SLIGHTLY LESS

Amount Handled During Year Is Over Four Millions.

Collections and disbursements of more than four million dollars each were handled through the county treasurer's office during the fiscal year which closed July 1, according to the treasurer's annual report. The report was turned over to county commissioners Tuesday morning by William Albers, treasurer.

Although more than four million dollars was collected by the treasurer, the county ended the twelve-month period with a balance nearly $25,000 smaller than a year ago.

Balance Is $801,564.

The balance as of July 1, 1930 was $801,564.81. On July 1, 1929, the county's balance sheets showed $824,644.08. Although this year's fiscal balance is less than that of 1929, it remains more than $50,000 greater than the 1928 balance for the same period. That fiscal year closed with only $740,624.83 in the county coffers.

Collections and disbursements both ran slightly higher the last year than the one preceding. Collections totaled $4,269,007.42 and disbursements, $4,292,086. Interest on the county's funds during the year just ended amounted to $28,423.

Disbursements under the county highway fund were slightly less than collections, although for all funds together, disbursements exceeded collections by more than $20,000. More than $375,000 was spent from the highway fund. Somewhat more than $125,000 was spent from the bridge fund, a figure substantially in excess of collections for the fund.

The highway fund closed the year with a balance of $114,551, much of which will be consumed in payment of contracts for this year's road work which is now under way. The bridge fund, however, was reduced to a balance of $27,866 as of July 1.

Inheritance tax collections for the year amounted to nearly $25,000, which, with a relatively small disbursement, less than two thousand dollars, left the balance in that fund, $85,136.57.

World Poultry Show Is Opened in London

LONDON, July 22—(AP)—Seven thousand specimens of poultry from twenty-three countries, including the United States and Canada, went on exhibit in the Crystal palace today.

At the same time delegates from sixty nations convened under the same roof for the fourth world poultry congress.

The congress, which was opened by the Duke of York this afternoon, is under the patronage of the royal family and was organized by the ministry of agriculture at the request of the poultry industry of the British Isles, the object being to provide facilities for interchange of scientific and practical knowledge in poultry raising. The honorary chairman is Dr. Morley Jull of the United States.

Negro War Mothers Welcomed to Paris

PARIS, July 22—(I. N. S.)—A negro jazz orchestra extended an enthusiastic greeting today to the negro gold star mothers who arrived in France on their pilgrimage to the battlefields and graves of fallen sons.

A large crowd, including many French negro residents, was at the station to greet the contingent. Today they laid a wreath on the tomb of the unknown soldier and the rest of the day will be spent sightseeing. Tomorrow they leave for the battlefields.

NO TRACE FOUND OF HUGE PYTHON AT LAKE RESORT

ROCHESTER, N. Y., July 22—(AP)—The disappearance of the twenty-foot, 200-pound Indian python from a cage at Sea Breeze park last Thursday today was under investigation by city and county authorities.

Widespread terror among cottagers and visitors to the Lake Ontario resort has prevailed since rumors that the reptile had been seen in outlying parks and suburbs. Court action to determine whether the python actually escaped, was stolen or hidden with a view toward publicity so far has failed to reveal anything except that the snake was gone.

Since Thursday a large force of armed men have been searching the woods and brush in the vicinity day and night.

Meanwhile, the reptile exhibit at the park has been closed.

23 Oklahomans Facing Arrest for Attempt to Rid a Town of Negroes

OKLAHOMA CITY, July 22—(AP)—Twenty-three citizens of Erick, Okla., alleged to have conspired to prevent negroes from exercising constitutional rights, faced arrest on federal charges today.

George F. Long, deputy United States marshal, was to begin serving warrants today.

The alleged attempt to depopulate Erick of its negroes, followed the slaying of a former woman resident of that town by a negro at Shamrock, Tex., nearby.

Cheyenne Opens Its Famous Rodeo

CHEYENNE, Wyo., July 22—(AP)—Wyoming's capital was once more the capital of America's range land today. The monotonous boom of the tom tom had called together Indians from the Rosebud agency of South Dakota and from the Burnt Thigh tribe of the Sioux. And 12,000 persons were here to watch broncho busters attempt to ride wild horses, among them "Midnight," pitch black king of all buckers.

It is the thirty-fourth annual Frontier Days celebration. Frontier Cheyenne with its saloons, dance halls, variety theaters nad gambling tables has been reproduced.

BEET GROWERS TO HOLD CONVENTION

Shepherd's Crooks Still Made by Hand

PYECOMB, Eng.—(AP)—Despite this day of mass production a one-man industry still flourishes in England.

It is the hand-made shepherd's crook industry, run by Charlie Mitchell, who supplies crooks to shepherds in Australia, South Africa, Canada, western United States and other wool-growing sections. Mitchell is 85 years old and has been forging crooks in his dark smoky little shop for 54 years.

Collectors are his best customers now, for machinery has made itself felt, even in making shepherd's crooks.

NEBRASKA NEWS

TRUCKMEN ARE GIVEN WARNING

Association President Says Crisis Is Approaching.

Operators Must Have Friendship Of the Public.

OMAHA, July 22—W. D. Heflin of Ceresco, president of the Nebraska Motor Transport association, is quoted in the July issue of the Nebraska Motor Transport Review as stating that "it is the consensus of opinion among Nebraska truck operators that the trucking industry in this state is approaching a crisis, and that the climax will be reached during the next session of our state legislature."

There are several things which must be remedied, if possible, before the next legislative session," said Mr. Heflin "The first, and most important, is to gain the approbation of the public. This feeling which has grown against us is not without some justification, and can be overcome only by an improvement in the actual operation of our trucks.

Courtesy Required.

"If every driver would be courteous to the motoring public—keep on his own side of the highway and not drive at an excessive speed—it would be but a short time until we would have public opinion back of us and fighting for us instead of against us.

"There must also be improvement in the relationship between the members of the trucking industry. It is high time that we realize that we must stop bickering among ourselves and offer a united front to those who, through ignorance or misinformation, do not know the position we occupy in the field of transportation.

Financial Side.

"If we are to place our business on solid foundation, it is necessary that we show a profit on our investment. Prof. C. W Smith of the University of Nebraska agricultural college has offered to make a study of the costs of operation in our business, if we will co-operate.

"These are but a few of the things which should be ironed out before we go before our legislature next winter and request some progressive, constructive and regulatory legislation for the trucking industry in this state."

Here and There

Why the Mails Are Safe.

(Kansas City Times.)

A review by the chief postoffice inspector of five years of activity against theft, robbery, and fraudulent use of the mails makes an impressive showing It reveals a high percentage of arrests and convictions of persons charged with this form of lawlessnes. But it reveals that, whereas crime supposedly has been on the increase, there has been no recent growth of these forms of offenses, but in some instances a decline. There continue to be mail robberies, holdups, and other similar crimes. Yet in comparison with the volume of money or other valuables handled in the mails, the losses are almost negligible. It is said, for example, that in the war period nearly 50 billion dollars in Liberty bonds was carried through the mails without the loss of a single dollar.

The condition is not an accident. The criminal lets the mails alone because he knows that the chances of getting by with robbery, holdup, or theft are extremely slight He not only is pretty certain to be run down and arrested but convicted and punished. Law enforcement in this particular affords an excellent example It may be too much to expect such efficiency in all other cases But a vast improvement in most other instances can be expected

Monday Sets Records for Grain Loading

Burlington Reports Day Heaviest In Years On Lines West.

Monday was the biggest grain loading day in recent history of the Burlington railroad, according to records at the local headquarters. Cars filled on all lines west of the Missouri river totalled 1,073, compared with 597 on the same day last year. In the Nebraska district 579 cars were loaded and only 408 last year.

Although the extent of the record was uncertain, it was stated that the figure is the largest for any day in at least the last five or six years.

'Mercy Killer' of Insane Daughter Sent to Asylum

WALTON, N. Y., July 22—(AP)—Declared insane by a commission of alienists who examined him yesterday, Andrew Beers, 79-year-old "mercy killer," was committed to the Binghamton state hospital today for an indefinite period by County Judge Andrew J. McNaught.

Beers killed his mentally-blighted daughter, Frances, 27, because, as he voluntarily told police, he could not bear to see her suffer in illness and feared she might fall into unkind hands after his death. After unsuccessful use of poison in her food, he drove an ice pick into her head. He then gave himself up.

Because his devotion to his daughter was well known here, most townspeople accepted his statement as absolutely true and his neighbors engaged counsel for him.

Gage County Has New Jury System Account Census

BEATRICE, Neb., July 22—(AP)—Though Gage county's population increased but a few hundred during the past decade, the commissioners as a result are faced with the task of revising the jury system. The increase was just enough to put it in the 30,000 class. While formerly it was necessary for the board of supervisors to certify a list of only 60 potential jurors, now it is necessary to draw a jury from a list composing not less than one tenth of the county's entire population.

Gang is Suspected of Abandoning Unwanted Babies For $50 Each

ST. HYACINTHE, Que., July 22—(AP)—One woman was under arrest today and police were trying to round up other members of a ring alleged to have made a business of abandoning unwanted babies for $50 a child.

The organization is believed by officials to have been depositing the unwanted children on doorsteps within a hundred mile radius of Montreal. Twenty babies have been abandoned in Three Rivers, four in Granby, and nine in St. Hyacinthe since April 10.

Four of the babies found in St. Hyacinthe have been identified by young women employed in a maternity home in Montreal as having come from that institution. The babies, police say, are taken from Montreal at night in automobiles and left in small villages on private doorsteps and at the portals of charitable institutions.

CAMPBELL HELD IN GIRL'S DEATH

Wife and Brother Claim He's Innocent of Mary Baker's Death.

WASHINGTON, July 22—(AP)—The wife and brother of Herbert Campbell, Virginia real estate operator, who was charged last night with the murder of Mary Baker, came to his aid today, claiming they could prove his innocence.

The arrest of Campbell early today after six hours of uninterrupted questioning by Washington and Virginia police, came as a sudden turn in the three months' search for the slayer of the young navy department clerk.

As he was led to the Arlington county, Virginia, jail, Campbell denied he killed Miss Baker. Police had quoted him as saying earlier, "You have enough on me to indict, convict and electrocute me."

His brother, Frank Campbell, prominent Arlington county businessman, said he had investigated and knew that his brother was innocent.

Miss Baker disappeared from downtown Washington on an April afternoon and her body was found the next day in a culvert near Arlington national cemetery.

CHANGING NEBRASKA.

That is a strange paradox presented in the crop reports drifting in from western Nebraska. Rarely has the range been in better shape. Wheat, to which thousands of acres of the sandy tables and valleys have been planted, promises yields ranging from 25 to as high as 50 bushels to the acre. Corn, a crop, which until recent years, could not be grown in the "Great American desert," never looked better and it is probable the heaviest yields in the state will be reported there.

Slowly a great empire is being built in that portion of Nebraska, which the early emigrants in the covered wagons described as "unfit for man or beast." It is an empire of prosperous, growing towns, fortified by a rich agriculture, which has accomplished the seeming impossible task of converting what was formerly sand dunes, "blowouts" and monotonous waste, covered with sage and cactus and grass into green fields.

The scientist may have his explanation of the phenomena which has transformed western Nebraska. He may tell you the force of the winds which formerly swept with searing breath over that vast region has been partially robbed of its destructiveness by cities and by trees. He may say the gradual elimination of the prairie fire, of territorial days, which destroyed all vegetation and left nothing but the sands has given the soil a chance to enrich itself from the decay of the growth of grass which it sustained. Whatever the cause the fact remains that starting with the most eastern boundaries of the old sandhill territory, or the great Panhandle, as it was called in the cattle days, the annual rainfall has increased perceptibly. A quarter of a century ago it was abnormal when more than 18 inches of moisture fell in the 12-months period. So far during this season, the western Nebraska counties lead in rainfall. Since January 1st, Alliance has had 16 inches, Broken Bow 15 30, and Holdrege in the far southwest 18.93 inches.

Nor has this season varied from its immediate predecessors.

For the last five years there has been an abundance of moisture in this former arid section, very largely eliminating the necessity of irrigation, and making it possible for waste lands to add enormously to the wealth of Nebraska. In 1929 and again in 1928 three of these counties produced the greatest crop of wheat of any in the state. The farm wealth in one of them was in excess of $12,000,000 in 1929, or more than $10,000 for each family within its borders.

So when western Nebraska again sends forth the cheering news that crops are excellent, that production promises to reach high levels, that in spite of low prices the conditions throughout this new and important part of the state are good, it furnishes a reminder that new forces have come into play in the future development of the commonwealth. For the last five years the old Panhandle, which fifty years ago echoed to the mad stampede of the thundering herd, has added immeasureably to the economic strength and stability of Nebraska. The old "cow man" may miss the glamour which was a part of the range but in its modern farm homes, and its great fields of grain he feels a sense of security and comfort which was not a part of his dreams of yesterday. The eastern counties, older and more settled, rejoice with their western cousins in the great change which has taken place.

UP-TO-DATE POLITICS IN OKLAHOMA.

While Nebraska is having its troubles over the duplication of candidates' names in the forthcoming state primaries, down in Oklahoma a unique political development of quite another sort is making its appearance. No fewer than twenty persons have filed there for the office of lieutenant governor, thirteen of these being in the democratic primary and seven in the republican. In most states that particular position often goes begging, but the home bailiwick of Will Rogers evidently regards it as something well worth striving for.

The explanation is found in the fact that several governors have been impeached and removed from office during recent years, which action in each case resulted in the lieutenant governor stepping in and taking charge as the executive head of the state government. On the theory that the same thing might happen again, there has been an unprecedented rush of aspirants for second place on the ticket of each party, every candidate hoping that he may win the lesser office and later on succeed to the principal one.

It seems to have been overlooked that none of the lieutenant governors who became governors lasted longer than the end of the partial term which he was called upon to fill out. If that aspect of the situation were given more attention, there might be fewer competitors. To be turned out at the end of a few months in office is not an inviting prospect for an ambitious person, although it is undoubtedly better than being ousted through impeachment.

At any rate, the candidates in Oklahoma who are familiar with the political currents of their state and can judge where their best chances lie, apparently regard the lieutenant governship as holding out better promise of advancement than the gubernatorial station itself. In surveying the outlook, a prospective candidate may say to himself:

"Why should I try for nomination and election as governor, when the strong probability is that if I should be successful the opposition will start exploding bombshells and turning its machine gun fire at me the minute I take office? Why put myself up as a target for the other crowd to shoot at, when there is an easier way? I'll just stand back and let somebody else run for governor; and in the meantime I'll get myself elected lieutenant governor, which will put me in line to become chief executive after they have got his scalp and hung it on the fence."

That kind of reasoning is, without doubt, what has brought out such a field of candidates for the inferior position. The political status in Oklahoma is such that discretion has become the better part of valor. Until the hoodoo that hangs over the governor's office there shall be lifted, it can be expected that many men will continue to shy away from it.

The impeachment business tends to spread to some of the other southern states, also. It had quite a run in Texas some years since, when Governor James Ferguson was put out of office, and again during the regime of his wife. In Louisiana, Gov. Huey P. Long is on the rack for the second time, the first effort to remove him having failed a year or two ago.

In this country, we wonder how so many revolutions get started in Central and South America and Mexico. Perhaps the inhabitants of those nations have the same degree of curiosity over our system of electing men to office and then kicking them out.

THE PATH TO CHARM.

"The day may come," in the opinion of T. R. Parsons, a biochemist at Cambridge university in England, "when the biochemist, by a judicious application of his potent artificially-prepared drugs, will be able to convert us all into the most charming of people."

That is a wonderful dream, not alone for science, but for humanity. The idea of grouches eliminated, unpleasant remarks never made, or forgotten as soon as they are made, and brain storms made a thing of the past appeals to us all.

True, Professor Parsons admits that "that day is still a long way off." But so were the submarine and the airplane, the telephone and the radio, the knowledge of atoms and of vitamins, until within comparatively recent years.

There is no more fascinating story than the intricate details of the progressive path of science, a path hampered by the ultra-conservatism of the unintelligent on the one side, the over-enthusiasm of the pseudo-scientist on another. There is no fairy tale comparable to the dreams of the scientific imagination, in what it hopes to accomplish for the human race.

The dream of a perfect people, a people made charming by science through control of internal secretions or by variations in diet is a fascinating possibility. It is a long way off. And somehow, back of the fantastic glory of such a perfection, there remains a lingering doubt. The greatest of satisfactions to human personality come always through struggle. Would scientific perfection, in making man an ideal prince charming to others, destroy his very reality, his very individualism, his most significant value—the glory of successful effort?

TREE SITTING CONTESTS.

Without doubt most people will commend juvenile and health officials of Chicago who have instituted a campaign to put an end to tree sitting and similar feats of endurance now being engaged in by boys and girls in various parts of the country. The health department, it is stated, has announced that such stunts, if carried to excess, are apt to result in physical breakdowns, and one does not have to be a graduate of a school of medicine to realize that such is the case.

Young people should of course be encouraged to engage in contests of various kinds where there is no danger of harmful results ensuing. To the one who desires to excel there are all sorts of athletics, games of every description, as well as mental tests, and all of these are beneficial, physically or intellectually, and in most cases both. The public provides facilities for athletic development and for mental training and seeks in every way to encourage them, that a virile, disciplined and mentally equipped generation may follow the one now directing affairs. Contests along these lines are commendable and beneficial.

It is impossible to discern, however, what possible benefit can accrue to anyone, from allowing a child to sit for days in the crotch of a tree. On the other hand, there is possibility that the health of the youngster may be permanently impaired. Human beings of the age of the boys and girls who are engaged in these stunts require regular sleep, regular meals and regulation in all the affairs of their lives, and if this regularity is interfered with the bad results are liable to remain with them during their entire lives.

Parents should of course appreciate these facts and forbid their offspring jeopardizing their future well being in such ridiculous manner, but upon their failure to do so the authorities are perfectly justified in taking a hand in the matter. The state or the municipality will not allow one to commit acts which may result in that one becoming a charge upon the public, and no one can say that such may not be the ultimate outcome of some of these tree sitting and other equally futile contests.

In view of the fact that no possible good can come of the craze and that much harm may result, authorities everyplace will be justified in following the example of those in Chicago and ending the fad.

THE BRANSON WELLS.

While the question of Lincoln's water supply has been very much before the public in recent days because of the torrid temperatures, Colonel C. M. Branson calls the attention of the city commission to the test wells which were sunk on his farm southwest of Lincoln twenty-four years ago. The records of these tests seem to have disappeared. Colonel Branson says they revealed an inexhaustible supply of water in a narrow 50-foot strata of sandstone less than 100 feet from the surface. Repeated pumping, he declares, demonstrated that the wells would furnish a minimum of 5,000,000 gallons of water a day without lowering the level of the semi-artisian flow which is found at this location.

If the facts are uncontroverted, then Commissioner Schroeder, in charge of the water department, owes the people of Lincoln an explanation. He has been testing all of the nearby water sources, including Stevens Creek, and has reported difficulty in finding water.

Ultimately, expert opinion holds, Lincoln will be compelled to abandon wells as a source of water. The reports without exception favor tapping the Platte at its nearest source. If the Branson wells promise to temporarily eliminate any danger of shortage, the commission would be proceeding wisely to investigate.

"BLEEDING KANSAS."

George Authier, the Washington correspondent of The Minneapolis Tribune, finds Nebraska's southern neighbor has gone back in history to revive the old name of "Bleeding Kansas." But it is wheat which has thrown Kansas into a turmoil. With a crop more than twice as large as any other state in the union, the Kansas farmer has rebelled against the 60-cent a bushel price offered on the farm.

The measure of the revolt is obtained by Senator Capper's defection from support of the federal farm board. Mr. Capper is demanding Chairman Legge and his associates purchase 100,000,000 bushels of the 1930 crop. Ignoring the issue raised by Chairman Legge in his swing through the southwestern states, Senator Capper replies that curtailed acreage will not correct the situation which exists at this time. In his insistence that something be done immediately there is the strong probability the whole farm problem will be reopened next December when congress convenes in regular session. Thereon lies the great danger to the farm board's program of co-operative curtailment for in the debate which is certain to be stirred up much of the good that may have been accomplished will be nullified.

Just Folks by Edgar A. Guest

THE WHISTLING BOY.

A lad went whistling down the street,
I never saw his face.
It may be we shall never meet
At any time or place.
And I may never learn his name
Or know him in the throng,
But still into my life he came
To be remembered long.

I think that I shall never sigh
Again within my room,
But I shall hear that lad go by
Whose whistle broke the gloom.
And I am sure when unto me
Come dreary doubts and fears
That youngster's cheery call will be Still ringing in my ears.

"Cheer up! Cheer up! The sun is high,"
His music seemed to say,
"Oh, why does anybody sigh
On such a lovely day?
And why is anybody glum
When all is fair to see?"
I think that boy was born to come
And stir the fith in me.

To see his face I was too late.
The lad had passed me by,
But he had whistled off the weight
Of care that made me sigh,
And he had whistled off the whim
Which shrouded me in woe,
And I shall long remember him,
Though he may never know.

Everyday Questions

Answered By

DR. S. PARKES CADMAN

(Copyright 1930, New York Tribune.)

Questions from Lincoln Star readers are answered daily by the Rev. Dr. S. Parkes Cadman, of the Federated Council of Churches of Christ in America. Dr. Cadman seeks to answer inquiries that appear to be representative of the trends of thought in the many letters which he receives

QUESTION.

Ozone Park, L. I.

I am eighteen and my conduct has caused my mother great anziety. I am beginning to realize this. She is a saint and I have been a devil. Should I leave home and so relieve her of the burden of my presence? My father is dead and I turn to you for advice.

ANSWER.

I am not impressed by your desire to quit. Your mother is more likely to worry about you when you are out of her sight than when you are at home. Stay there and play the man. Tell her frankly how deeply you regret your folly and wickedness. Ask her to receive you to her heart again, and the probability is you will discover you have never been absent from it. Such a mother as yours will answer your plea before you have finished it, and for every step you take toward restoration she will take two. The aged father ran to greet the prodigal son. Think of an old man's withered limbs and faint energy. Then visualize him as love lent wings to his feet.

Once you have resumed full filial relations, resolve that as far as in you lies you will provide for your fatherless home. This is the path of honor and of safety. Whatever temptations may surround it, your domestic surroundings will aid you to overcome them. So from now on home and mother for you, my boy! And God give you grace to illuminate both with true devotion.

QUESTION.

How would you suggest we should train our young son aright? He is all we have or likely to have, and we don't want him to miss his way in life. We are of the Christian faith.

ANSWER.

Tell him that he is God's child, that Christ is his pattern in everything, and that every human being belongs, as he does, to the one Father. At the proper stage of his adolescence see to it that he knows for what his body exists, and that it must be kept fit, clean and wholesome. Enlist him in the Boy Scouts as soon as he is old enough to join that excellent organization.

Encourage him to reverence womanhood and to cultivate fine friendships with both sexes of his own age. He should clearly understand that because a lie stains his soul it is an abomintion to the Lord. Do not compel him to love all the things you love, or follow all your thinking on religious lines. It is best to so live the life of a believer that your child shall be drawn to sacred realities by the force of parental example.

Never allow him to shun the task that has to be done. He will soon learn that joyous play is half created by hard work. With your aid and by heaven's grace he should develop into a gentleman who lives to serve, to give, and not simply to get; to be mindful of others, especially of the needy, and never guilty of prejudice or conceit, nor congenial to the perils of vulgarity, snobbishness or contempt.

QUESTIONS.

I am a Jew acquainted with your religion and would like to ask if my people did not know that eternal life was the reward of righteousness. What has the New Testament to offer in addition to warrant the Jew in accepting its teaching? And why should we yield to your overtures to become Christians when our forefathers declined them?

ANSWER.

I appreciate Israel's splendid contribution, not only to Christianity, but to Islam, and to the world's spiritual interpretation f life. But I submit that belief in immortality was a late and incomplete manifestation lof Judaism. The great prophets carried on their noble work without much allusion to a future life. Hints of its possibility, nay, its actuality and its loveliness, are found in some of the Psalms and in the Books of Job and Daniel.

But it is Christ's transcendent glory that He "brought life and immortality to life in His Gospel." St. Paul powerfully expounded this transcendent truth. It was the soul of the first Easter message, and its light and gladness have since girdled the globe with hope and aspiration.

Moreover, by its emphasis upon the union of all believing souls with their victorious and risen Lord, Christianity produced a new order of human beings. They reiterated the priceless values of the individual revealed in Christ's teaching and proclaimed His salvation open to men of every color and condition.

You will recall that members of your race were the resistless advocates of the New Testament Faith. Think of the Apostles, of Apollos, Barnabas, Aquilla and Priscilla and of the loss Christianity sustained when it failed to recruit kindred spirits in all Israel.

Many liberal Jews today hold Jesus in the highest respect, and not a few of your contemporaries have written admirable books extolling His originality, courage and devotion. Montefiori, Klausner and Ismel Abrahams, to name no others, have made their works essential for the scholars of my faith.

Let us treasure the mutual benefits Judaism and Christianity can impart by a generous and close cooperation in every good work which is possible to our joint action, and by so doing hasten the day when all men shall know the Lord.

Diet and Health

By Lulu Hunt Peters, M. D.

DRINK LIBERALLY OF WATER SEE THAT DIET IS BALANCED.

QUESTION.

"What is water brash? Is it due to drinking too much water, or too little? MRS. R."

ANSWER.

The technical name for water brash is pyrosis, and it means burning in the esophagus (the tube that leads to the stomach) and acid eructation. It is termed water brash because it usually causes an excessive flow of saliva, but it has no specific relation to the drinking of water. It is sometimes called heartburn.

In this condition, there is an over-secretion of acid in the stomach. That can come from prolonged wrong diet, from drugs, from alcohol or excess smoking and other abuses. If prolonged, it is frequently the forerunner of ulcer and ulcer may be the forerunner of cancer. The thing to do immediately, is to have a physical examination, with an analysis of the stomach contents.

Meanwhile, see that your diet is balanced, drink a liberal amount of water—as much as you crave, is a good rule—6 or 8 glasses a day, including your other liquid drinks, although there are those who can get into the habit of desiring too little and they should establish a habit of drinking water whether they want to or not.

Those who overeat always crave water because of the over concentration of the blood and tissue fluids. That is the reason that water has the reputation for being fattening. But it isn't fattening in itself, for it has no heating or energy (caloric) value.

QUESTION.

"Have been married for six years and have been working until this year, until we could get established. I have a charming home, but I am miserable without my former activities. What I thought I wanted, I find is not satisfying at all, and the interests my friends have, are not mine; and I'm at a loss as to how to pass my time, even though I am studying music and reading voraciously. I have never been interested in raising a family, but I want to know if that would give one much of an interest in life. I should hate to be as unsettled with a child as I am now, but, of course, one would have to care for it and so find some occupation. But I do not want to be deceived, so I am asking you, as an impersonal authority. Would it be dangerous at 33 to have a first baby? "MRS. E."

ANSWER.

You certainly should have a family, Mrs. E. No, it is not dangerous at your age. Many women give birth to first children at a much later age than yours, without unfavorable effects.

You would find all your discontent disappear, for the love and care of children is recognized as the most satisfying experience in life.

Mrs. W.: The name of the new preparation which is very high in vitamin B. is vitavose, not "vitatose;" and if it appeared in your paper as vitatose, it was a typographical error.

Dr. Lulu Hunt Peters died in London on June 28. These article had been prepared by her for future publication.

HERE AND THERE

The British Play Censor.

(New York Times.)

Earl Cromer, the Lord Chamberlain, does not have to tell why he bans a play from the British stage, but usually he explains. "The Green Pastures" is out because it depicts God in a way that seems to him blasphemous. He did not say, however, why he refused to license Christopher Morley's "East of Eden," which treats of the deity and the origin of Cain's wife. The play was simply forbidden.

"Potiphar's Wife" was barred because it employed the dialogue found in the Thirty-ninth chapter of Genesis. The censor's comment was that what is fit for church is not necessarily fit for the stage. In a Cambridge festival theater play an ultra-modern young woman was expected to say, 'I like simple, settled things, like the Houses of Parliament, God, hunting and things like that.' The Lord Chamberlain held up the play until the word 'God' had been deleted from the script. Asked by the indignant authors if he would allow 'the Lord Chamberlain' to be inserted in place of "God," he gave cheerful permission.

Taxation.

Lincoln, Neb., July 21.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star. It has been the custom of the taxing officers and some courts of Lancaster county to disregard certain mandatory provisions of the constitution and statutes of Nebraska. The disregarded provisions of the constitution are:

Article 8: Section 1 and 2—in part—"Section One——but taxes shall be levied by valuation uniformly and proportionately upon all tangible property and franchise—— "Section Two. No property shall be exempt from taxation except as provided in this section." Also Article One. Section 25. "There shall be no discrimination between citizens of the United States in respect to acquisition, ownership, possession, enjoyment or descent of property."

The diregarded statutes (general laws) are:

Section 5868. "Property defined. —The word "property" includes every kind of property, tangible or intangible, subject to ownership." Section 5820. "Actual value."—All property in this state, not expressly exempt therefrom, shall be valued and assessed at its actual value. 'Actual value' as used in this Act, shall mean its value in the market in the ordinary course of trade."

The taxing officer, whose duty it was, and is, to carry into effect the above mandatory provisions are: precinct assessors, the county assessor, the county attorney and the county board of equalization.

The disregarding courts, having appellate jurisdiction, were certain judges of the district court of Lancaster county. (See Section 5975. Comp. 1922.)

Through disregard of these laws, relating to franchise taxation of capital stock companies (domestic corporations), organized and operated for gain or profit, the undersigned specifically alleges that many millions of dollars of franchise values escape taxation entirely in the Lincoln school district and that the small part that is placed on the assessment roll of the county is taxed at a discriminatory rate.

If mandatory laws may be disregarded or set aside at the will or convenience of the administrative officers, either executive or judicial, why the law?

N. M. SOMMERVILLE.

Thanks to Chief Justice Goss.

Lincoln, Neb., July 21.

To the editor of the Lincoln Star: Thinking men and women everywhere are grateful to Chief Justice Goss for his clear-cut decision in the duplicate Norris case. We now know positively what the would-be candidate must do to be saved. He has "time to burn" in which to make his filing, up to forty days preceding the nominating primary. It is mandatory that the filing be made not later than forty days, and he has three ways in which his filing papers may be placed in the hands of the secretary of state. He may bring them in himself personally; he may employ a special messenger; he may make use of the United States mail. In all this he is the principal; and in the event special messenger or the United States is employed to carry the filing papers, these are his agents.

"I know," said Chief Justice Goss, "of no way the secretary of state can make postmasters in 2,000 towns his agents for something the candidate has to do." In other words, the office of secretary of state is established in the state capitol in Lincoln and cannot be constructively spread over the state of Nebraska for the convenience of negligent candidates.

It is to be regretted that the Broken Bow Norris failed to file in due time, for in that event we should have had a much more difficult problem to solve.

CHARLES Q. DE FRANCE.

Wheat Prices.

Lincoln, Neb., July 18.

To the editor of the Lincoln Star: I am just in receipt of a letter from a friend of mine, James T. Campbell, who lives at Zephyrhills, Florida, and he wants to know why it is that wheat is only selling for 65 cents in Nebraska when he is paying $1.62 per bushel at Zephyrhills.

Now, Mr. Editor, this is too deep a question for me, so will you please be kind enough to answer it for me?

ED. H. SCHROEDER.

Editorial Note: Grain men in Nebraska said the difference in freight rates would not explain the quoted price of wheat at Zephyrhills. The transportation charge should make wheat sell for approximately $1.12 a bushel there.

BURGESS BEDTIME STORIES

Egret Goes Fishing

BY THORNTON W. BURGESS.

When you are urged to take your fling,
Beware! There always is a sting.
—Old Mother Nature.

Farmer Brown's Boy likes one kind of hunting. He says it is the greatest sport in the world and I am inclined to think that he is right. It is hunting with a camera.

"When you shoot a bird or an animal," says Farmer Brown's Boy, "that is the end of it. You may have the skin mounted, but there it is, always just the same—a dead thing, no matter how lifelike it may look. But when you hunt with a camera and get a successful picture of a bird or an animal it is just as interesting, and sometimes even more interesting than if the subject had been killed and mounted. You see, in the photograph you have the surroundings as well as the subject; and best of all, you know that that bird or animal hasn't been harmed, and that very likely you may see it again, and perhaps many times."

Now, of course, when Farmer Brown's Boy got Egret the White Heron one of the first things he did was to make a photograph of it. He made a very nice portrait of Egret, but that wasn't enough. You see, it was just a portrait. It might have been a mounted Egret, for all any one could tell from looking at the picture. Then Farmer Brown's Boy made some pictures of Egret in the farmyard, but these didn't suit him. Whoever saw an Egret in a farmyard? The background was all wrong.

One day Farmer Brown's Boy was looking over these pictures and an idea came to him. It came to him in that sudden way that ideas have of coming. "Why didn't I think of that before?" cried Farmer Brown's Boy, jumping up and starting for the house.

When he came out he had his camera with him. He went out to the barn and got Egret. Then he started for the Smiling Pool. As he drew near the Smiling Pool Egret began to be excited. When he saw the water he began to struggle. Farmer Brown's Boy soothed him as best he could. Then he attached a string to one of Egret's legs and put Egret down in the shallow water at the head of the Smiling Pool. What do you think Egret did? What would you have done in his place? Of course, you would! Egret did. He went fishing. Yes, sir, that's what he did—he went fishing.

Farmer Brown's Boy chuckled as he got busy with his camera.

Farmer Brown's Boy chuckled as he got busy with his camera and made photograph after photograph of Egret. Egret walked along in his stately fashion on the very edge of the water. He stood for a long time on one foot, his head tucked back between his shoulders. Then some minnows came within reach and Egret came to life with great suddenness. After he got tired of fishing he went hunting frogs. All this time Farmer Brown's Boy was busy with his camera. He was getting pictures of Egret just as Egret would be in his natural surroundings.

As for Egret, he was perfectly happy. That was what he had longed for ever since Farmer Brown's Boy had caught him. It was a wonderful thing for him, and, just as if he had known what Farmer Brown's Boy wanted, he did everything that a Heron would do hunting or fishing.

When at last Farmer Brown's Boy started to get him to take him home Egret wasn't ready to go. He started to run. He had forgotten that string that Farmer Brown's Boy had put on one leg. So it was that he didn't run far, for Farmer Brown's Boy was holding the other end of the string. After that, farmer Brown's Boy took Egret fishing just as often as he could, for he knew just how much it meant to Egret.

DETROIT VOTERS DECIDING MAYOR BOWLES' FATE

Special Election Being Held As Result Of Recall Move.

Ousting of Police Head After Vice Raids Arouses City.

DETROIT, July 22—(AP)—Five hours after the polls opened today for Detroit's first mayoralty recall election, reports to the city election commission indicated that the vote will be the heaviest ever cast here in a special election.

Reports from about 100 of the city's 850 precincts showed that more than 10 per cent of the registered voters at those places had cast their ballots by 10 a. m. The early vote did not equal that of last fall's city election, however, nor did it approach the early vote cast in the presidential election of 1928.

No disorders were reported. Challengers representing both the administration and the recall forces were on hand.

Mrs. Marie Jarzembowski, a challenger of the administration group, died of heart disease at one polling place.

DETROIT, July 22—(AP)—Mayor Charles Bowles, elected last fall, on a reform platform, is before the voters today with an accusation that he "tolerated lawlessness" as one of the charges.

While Mayor Bowles was in Louisville last May 17, atending the Kentucky Derby, his police commissioner, Harold H. Emmons, ordered raids on race betting establishments in which nearly 300 arrests were made. The mayor returned to Detroit and fired Emmons, thereby percipitating the recall move which culminated today in special election to decide whether Mayor Bowles shall continue in office.

Charge Double Crossed Mayor.

Friends of the mayor have declared that Commissioner Emmons "double crossed" his chief in ordering the raids while the mayor was attending a horse race, and Mayor Bowles stated that he had intended to discharge Emmons for failure to enforce gambling laws and "fired him in spite or rather than because of" the raids on derby day.

But the discharge of Emmons was made the central argument for recall of Mayor Bowles. Within a few days, recall petitions were placed in circulation. They contained charges that the mayor "discharged Police Commissioner Emmons for enforcing gambling laws while Bowles was out of the city," tolerated violation of laws by law enforcing agencies and eight other charges.

More than 110,000 signatures were obtained for the recall petition, and more than the necessary 90,000 were declared valid by the election commission. The Michigan Supreme court ruled that the election must be held. The election campaign began two weeks ago after the mayor's supporters had exhausted all means of preventing the vote.

BEATRICE MEN PROTEST AGAINST NEW RATE BASIS

C. E. Hite, chairman of the traffic committee for the Beatrice chamber of commerce, and C. F. Overbeck, secretary of the same organization, called on the state railway commission Tuesday to add their protest to many others from over the state against the new class rate basis promulgated by the interstate commerce commission. They also called on Governor Weaver.

"This order cancels all the results of patient work done by Nebraska communities during the past thirty or forty years in getting freight rates adjusted so as to make it possible to conduct business in this territory," declared Mr. Hite. "Now we find ourselves virtually wiped off the map at one fell swoop."

Phil Hall Receives Mysterious Offer Of Racketeering Job

As the sequel to his making the highest score as a machine gunner in the U. S. reserve officers' training camp recently held at Fort Crook, in which members of the old Eighty-ninth division participated, Col. Phil L. Hall of Lincoln has received a new military assignment which came to him anonymously by mail.

After he had won first place in the machine gun target competition by scoring 317 hits out of a possible total of 350, Colonel Hall found this communication awaiting him when he returned to Lincoln:

"Dear Sir — Through underground keyboard I have learned of your superior ability as machine gunner.

"Please report at headquarters, ———— street, Chicago, for position as colonel to machine gun racketeers. Salary, $25,000 per annum. Yours,

"SCARFACE AL."

Colonel Hall wants to know more about the authenticity of the letter before taking up the offer. He strongly suspects that the letter, written in a scrawly hand, is the work of some practical joker among the officers who served with him at camp.

Hall is commanding officer of the 334th infantry regiment, one of the four organizations making up the Eighty-ninth reserve division. One expert machine gunner was selected for each regiment. A score of 310 was required to qualify in that capacity.

Joe Mendi, Highest Paid Chimpanzee On U. S. Stage, Is Dead

COLUMBUS, O., July 22—(AP)—Joe Mendi, the chimpanzee that wore clothing and was said to be the highest paid animal of his kind on the American stage, died last night at the home of his owner, Lou Backenstoe, here. Backenstoe said he recently had rejected an offer of $25,000 for Joe. It was reported here that the chimpanzee was insured for $100,000.

Lehman Sets Pace In Chicago Golf Tourney

BEVERLY COUNTRY CLUB, CHICAGO, July 22—(AP)—Johnny Lehman of Chicago, former Big Ten champion, shot into the lead in the struggle for medalist honors in the Western amateur golf championship at Beverly today with a 147 stroke total for thirty-six holes.

Lehman's score was posted after one-third of the field had turned in cards, but the total had a big chance of snatching the medal. His score for today's round was 74, three over par. He carded a 73 yesterday.

Behind the rangy, youthful Chicagoan came several high ranking contenders, including Bob McCrary of Des Moines, trans-Mississippi champion, who tallied 76 today for a 153, and a pair of young Chicagoans, Charles Becka and Gus Novotny, with 154 each.

Lehman's card:

Par out	4	5	3	4	4	3	5	4	4	—36
Lehman out	5	5	3	4	4	3	4	4	5	—37
Par in	3	5	3	4	4	4	4	3	5	—35—71
Lehman in	3	5	3	4	4	4	4	5	5	—37—74—147

Stiff Wind Sweeps Course.

A stiff northeastern wind joined old man par's forces today and the scores bounded upward so high that 160 looked certain to be good enough to land among the thirty-one qualifiers who will battle the defending champion, Don Moe, of Portland, Ore., for the title over the match play route beginning tomorrow. Moe as champion, did not have to qualify.

All of the favorites appeared safe with the exception of Russell Martin of Chicago, runnerup in the 1925 championship at Detroit. Martin added an 83 to his first round total of 80 and was out of the running.

Don Anderson of St. Louis staged a great comeback to land safely among the qualifiers. Almost out of the running with a bad 80 yesterday, Anderson came back with a 73 two over par, for a 153 total, which placed him but six strokes behind Lehman.

Larry Moller, Notre Dame star and finalist in the recent national intercollegiate championship, ripped up his card in disgust today and withdrew. Moller took an 81 yesterday and fared even worse today.

Rolfe Fails To Qualify.

One of the big upsets of the qualifying round was the failure of Rial Rolfe, one of the best players in the Chicago district, to qualify. Rolfe carded 83-84 for a 167.

Ruddy Knepper, the Chicago veteran, added a 77 to his first card of 75, and took temporary second place behind Lehman.

By a change of policy, the Western Golf association today decided to seed eight of the outstanding players in the tournament for match play so that none of them could meet in the first round. No names were given, but six were almost certain to be seeded—Cyril Tolley and T. Phillip Perkins, the two Britons; Charles "Chick" Evans of Chicago, Bob McCrary of Des Moines, Johnny Lehman and the defending champion, Don Moe.

costs they must turn to other enterprises that offer better opportunity. Even in low cost areas, such as western Nebraska, the sooner the likelihood of low price levels is recognized, the sooner the tendency toward further expansion will be halted.

"Wheat is mainly a southern Nebraska crop. In southeastern and south central Nebraska counties the long trend in wheat acreage has been distinctly upward. The reason for the difference in trend is found in production costs. The Perkins county farmer with his large acreage, improved machinery and low cost methods, receives several times as much for each hour spent in raising wheat as does the Cass county farmer.

"Despite the advantage of the western producer, wheat will probably not disappear entirely from south central and southeastern Nebraska farms because of its place in the rotation, as a cash crop and as a means to secure better labor distribution, and because of lack of alternative crops that offer better opportunity of profit."

Credit Authority To Give Radio Talk

Many Lincoln business men are planning to listen to a radio talk by Dr. Stephen I. Miller, executive manager of the National Association of Credit Men, which will be broadcast during the Halsey Stuart & Co. program on the National Broadcasting Co's. network Wednesday night. The talk will be approximately ten minutes in length and can be heard through WEAF and stations, including WOW, Omaha, and WOC-WHO, Davenport-Des Moines.

Dr. Miller, whose subject is "What It Means to Have a Good Credit Standing," will analyze the credit system and what it means to American business. He will urge the safeguarding of a person's credit and use of it wisely.

organized search. About 6 a. m. the two harvest workers gave officers the information which led to the finding of the girls.

More than 50 itinerants had been picked up for questioning by the posse. Others here to work in the harvest fields, boarded outgoing trains to escape suspicion.

Kripal and Miller told disconnected stories, officers said, when they were questioned by Sheriff W. W. Schultz. Further questioning is set for this afternoon.

County Attorney Walter K. Hodgkin said he would not press charges against the youths until actual facts in the case have been determined.

NEW PASTOR COMES.

(Special to The Star.)

BEATRICE, Neb., July 22—Rev. W. W. Winter of Columbus, O. has assumed the pastorate of the First Baptist church here, succeeding Rev. James Whitman who went to Colorado some months ago for the benefit of Mrs. Whitman's health.

CHICAGO SALOON OPERATOR SLAIN

"Ash Can Pete" is Riddled With Bullets; Assailants Escape.

CHICAGO, July 22—(AP)—Peter (Ash Can Pete) Inserio, whose North lizabeth street saloon used to be called the "Ash Can Club," was shot to death last night.

Six bullets entered his body, but Inserio, 40 years old, lived long enough to be taken to a hosital. A policeman asked who shot him.

"I don't know," he answered, "but they did a good job."

No witness has been found to the shooting. An hour earlier Inserio had been sitting in front of the saloon, now called the "Idle Hour Club."

A search of the saloon disclosed a few nickels in the cash register. There was no liquor or beer there.

Police believed "Ash Can Pete" may have been slain by enemies of the Moran-Aielol gang with whom, officers said, Inserio had recently formed a connection.

the filing in the secretary of state's office last week of a signed withdrawal by Fred Johnson, which he had given to Fred H. Johnson when the latter called upon him at Cotesfield and persuaded him to quit the race. Before the paper reached the secretary of state, Fred Johnson changed his mind, came to Lincoln, and notified Deputy Secretary of State Thomas that he wished to repudiate the document and remain a candidate. Notwithstanding this, the withdrawal was accepted by the secretary of state as binding on Fred Johnson, and the latter's name was dropped from the list of candidates.

Say Not Republican.

Three attorneys appearing for Fred H. Johnson; who were O. B. Clark, H. B. Muffley, and L. L. Dunn, said they wanted a chance to obtain and present testimony to the effect that Fred Johnson of Cotesfield is actually affiliated with the democratic party and not the republican; that his first name is Arthur, and that his mailbox is marked "A. Fred Johnson;" and that his filing was made in furtherance of a conspiracy to injure the candidacy of Fred H. Johnson.

Sterling F. Mutz, counsel for the Cotesfield man, suggested that Fred H. Johnson himself had filed in order to take advantage of the name and prestige of State Auditor L. B. Johnson, against whom he is running, and is therefore not in a good position to raise the same point against anyone else.

Mutz was prepared to offer the legal contention that under the general election and primary laws of Nebraska a candidate cannot withdraw later than 30 days before the date set for the election or primary. In this instance, the withdrawal of Fred Johnson came in on the 27th day before the primaries of August 12. The secretary of state's office has accepted withdrawals even later than that, one of which was that of James H. Marsh of Omaha for secretary of state.

Printing Is Delayed.

A further contention by Mutz is that nobody except the authorized committee of a political party can challenge the claimed affiliation of a candidate with that party, and that individual protests filed with Secretary Marsh on that point have no legal status.

While the controversy remains before the Supreme court, Secretary Marsh cannot have the printer go ahead with the certified list of candidates which county clerks are waiting for, in order to make up the ballots for the primary election. Printing of the ballots in each county is held up until the clerk can furnish "copy" to the printer.

'WHEAT SOLONS' CALL ON LEGGE

given to China or India, Capper added, was suggested to the chairman.

Capper said the senators had "a most sympathetic discussion" with Legge. The chairman differed "with us on the proposition that the farm board, through its stabilization corporation, should go on the market at this time," he added.

Acreage Cut Not Discussed.

The senators said they did not discuss acreage reduction proposals.

Legge, however, Capper said, expressed the opinion that if it became known that farmers were reducing acreage it would have a beneficial effect on what prices.

Senator Allen left the board for the white house. He said he did not plan to discuss the wheat situation with President Hoover.

The proposal of Senator Thomas, democrat, Oklahoma, that President Hoover call an international conference of wheat growing countries with a view to a worldwide wheat reduction was not discussed at the conference.

Governor Reed Replies.

TOPEKA, July 22—(AP)—Replying to Chairman Legge's characterization of Gov. Clyde M. Reed's opposition to the federal farm board's wheat acreage reduction campaign as being "wholly political," the Kansas chief executive today said "the farm board fiddles while the wheat farmer faces destruction."

The governor's reply was in answer to an accusation made in Washington yesterday by Chairman Legge, who characterized opposition to the board's wheat policy as "political bunk" and likewise said criticism of the board's refusal to buy and store large amounts of the 1930 crop was political.

"If challenging a policy," Governor Reed said in a statement, "which I consider to be unsound economically and impossible of carrying out in the section of the country which raises the best wheat in the world, at the lowest production cost, and can raise nothing else so well, and if defending what I conceive to be the best interests of my state is 'playing politics,' then I plead guilty."

Until the scientific sages disclose their findings, the parents have dropped proposed damage suits against the Englewood hospital, where the babies were born on the same day, three weeks ago.

A week ago, Father Watkins, bathing his baby, found a tape marked "Bamberger" on the infants' back. He rushed to the Bamberger home demanding his own son. A nurse had just torn the tape off the Bamberger baby's back but it was found and read "Watkins."

cil. He knows little of Worthington's water operations, however, he says, and nothing of the tests in Salt creek valley between Saltillo and the Branson farm. If there are any logs or reports of the tests on file in the city hall, Mr. Schroeder knows nothing of them.

In an effort toward increasing the supply for University Place and Bethany, a test well was being sunk in University Place Tuesday. More water in University Place is a necessity, Mr. Schroeder said. One of the wells there broke down during the hot spell and the remaining two cannot feed enough water to the reservoir to keep it filled.

After the breakdown the pumps at the X street station in Peter Pan park started turning water into the large main connecting the city proper with the suburb. Since then the bulk of the suburban water has come from this station. It was the main through which the supply has been forced into University Place that many of the residents there complained against having to help pay for when it was laid following annexation.

After the X street water was turned into the suburban district, the water department received complaints that it was oily and salty. Samples were taken from hydrants in different parts of the district, a quart coming from the pipes in the house of one of those who complained. This has been tested and there is no semblance of either salt or oil. The water is the best, Mr. Schroeder declares, but is softer than that which comes from the University Place wells and for that reason has an entirely different taste.

Robertson Talks Willingly.

Robertson, however, willingly told newspapermen the story of how he obtained possession of the affidavit.

Paul Johnson, Broken Bow attorney who advised the grocer regarding his filing, called Robertson about 7 p. m. Friday. Johnson explained, that while he did not want to be identified with the withdrawal of the filing, he wanted Robertson to have it in his possession in case the occasion should arise when it might be advantageous to file it. He asked, however, that nothing should be said or done which would be derogatory to the Broken Bow Norris. According to Robertson, Johnson said he had been driving three days in an effort to obtain Norris' consent to the withdrawal. It was brought out during Senator Nye's inquiry that the affidavit had been prepared at the same time as were the filing papers.

Robertson explained Tuesday morning, that while he did not want to have the affidavit in his possession because of the reaction it might create, nevertheless he could not afford to refuse the offer because of reports he had heard that a plan was on foot to counter Senator Norris' filing as an independent.

Robertson had announced that should the Broken Bow man's name remain on the republican ballot, Senator Norris would withdraw and run as an independent. He said he had the senator's withdrawal affidavit in his pocket Friday and was prepared to file it. However, he feared that if the grocer's filing was declared valid and he filed the senator's withdrawal, an immediate move would be made to also file the withdrawal of the grocer's filing. For that reason, he explained, he could not risk the consequences in case the grocer's affidavit was in any hands other than his own.

With the ruling of the court declaring the grocer's filing illegal, the muddle was cleared and there was no necessity for filing either of the withdrawals.

Augmented by more than 200 Boy Scouts and neighbors, state police until last midnight searched this vicinity without finding any clue to the girl's whereabouts.

HOOVER SIGNS TREATY AFTER RATIFICATION

step with the co-operation of both political parties.

The president said:

"I shall have the gratification of signing the naval treaty this afternoon at 3 o'clock. It is a matter of satisfaction that this great accomplishment in international relations has at all steps been given united support of both our political parties.

"With the ratification by the governments, the treaty will translate an emotion deep in the hearts of millions of men and women into a practical fact of government and international relations.

Will Renew Faith of World.

"It will renew again the faith of the world in the moral forces of good will and patient negotiation as against the blind forces of suspicion and competitive armament. It will secure the full defense of the United States. It will mark a further long step toward lifting the burden of militarism from the backs of mankind and to speed the march forward of world peace.

"It will lay the foundation upon which further constructive reduction in world arms may be accomplished in the future.

"We should by this act of willingness to join with others sin limiting armament, have dismissed from the mind of the world any notion that the United States entertains ideas of agression, imperial power or exploitation of foreign nations."

Senators On Way Home.

WASHINGTON, July 22—(AP)—The London naval treaty today bore the approval of the senate and awaited ratification by Great Britain and Japan before becoming effective.

Meanwhile, the members of the senate, free after nineteen months of almost continuous session, journeyed to their homes to seek rest and relaxation and prepare for the coming campaigns.

The treaty was ratified, 58 to 9, late yesterday and adjournment sine die followed almost at once. The senate will reassemble in December for the regular "short session" ending March 4, 1931.

Before approving the treaty the legislators adopted the Norris reservation, setting forth the understanding of the senate that the pact is not modified in any way by secret documents or agreements extraneous to itself.

This reservation was introduced after President Hoover had withheld from the senate certain papers having to do with the negotiation of the pact.

Determined Opposition.

Ratification was determinedly opposedly by a small group of senators under the leadership of Johnson of California, Moses of New Hampshire and Hale of Maine, all republicans.

They disputed the claim of the administration that the pact provides for Anglo-American parity and will be the means of a saving to American taxpayers.

In particular, they objected to the cruiser clauses, asserting these involved a departure from the accepted policies of American naval construction.

They argued the pact placed an undesirable restriction on eight-inch gun cruisers and authorized the construction of a large fleet of six-inch vessels, a type of war craft which they said was not suited to the naval needs of the country.

On the question of the comparative merits of the six and eight-inch gun cruisers the ranking officers of the navy were in disagreement. They expressed differing points of view in hearings before the foreign relations and naval committees.

Administration Critized.

The opponents of the treaty also roundly criticised the administration for twice declining to produce the confidential documents, after requests for them from the foreign relations committee and the senate as a whole.

STECK FLAYS G. O. P. TARIFF

Iowa Democrat Assails Republican Administration of Dry Laws.

DES MOINES, Ia., July 22—(AP)—The new tariff bill and republican enforcement of the Eighteenth amendment were assailed today by Senator Daniel F. Steck in the keynote address at the democratic state convention. He pleaded for unity within his party "to give to our suffering people that unselfish, patriotic service which only the democratic party seems capable of rendering."

Steck attacked the Hawley-Smoot tariff law as unfavorable to agriculture. "The republican leaders have again worked the old sheil game," he said. "They have granted high rates on farm products purely to make a big showing to the farmer, as a smoke screen to cover the unconscionable rates put on manufactured goods."

Steck said that the republican platform pledges to agriculture in 1928 are unredeemed. He recited a list of rates in the new tariff law to prove his contention that it favored industry ahead of agriculture.

Suggests Dry Referendum.

Senator Steck called the conditions resulting "from the failure of the republican administration to enforce" the prohibition laws a national "disgrace." He suggested a referendum of the people of modification of the Eighteenth amendment and the Volstead act.

"Graft and corruption are the rule," he said, "rather than the exception among our law enforcement forces. Liquor is plentiful and easy to get if the buyer has the price. Speakeasies and blind tigers are more numerous than were saloons in the old days.

"The time of our courts is taken up with liquor cases to the exclusion of the hearing of important civil matters. Our federal, state and county prisons are packed to sufocation. There is a general increase in all crime and alarming disregard for all law."

Junior Chamber outscored McKelvie Publishing, 8-1, Meyers giving the Publishers only two bingles and whiffing 10. The Chamber scored three in the first, one in the third and four more in the sixth, McKelvie counting in the final frame.

Grainger Grocers again won from the Banks & Trusts, 11-2, capping off the scoring spree with an even half-dozen markers in the sixth. Barker allowed the Bankers only three hits.

Nebraska Prints edged out Hardy Furniture, 3-2, in a close contest. Scott, Prints hurler, fanned an even dozen and gave only four hits, while Barney, Hardy's flinger, allowed five and fanned six.

Grant Ordered Take Short Rest

ATLANTA, July 21—(I. N. S.)—Physicians stepped in today to thwart further tournament play for Bryan Grant, jr., newly-crowned national clay courts tennis champion, when they advised him to give up playing in the Colorado state tourney at Denver and return home to Atlanta.

Grant is expected to arrive Tuesday from Kansas City, where he won the national title yesterday.

A telegram to his uncle, L. E. Grant, of Atlanta, this morning stated that physicians had suggested that he take a rest from his play, causing a change in his immediate plans.

Alex Passes Out Baseball Picture

DALLAS, Tex., July 22—(I. N. S.)—Another of the baseball celebrities of yesteryear appeared at the end of a brilliant diamond career today with the unconditional release of Grover Cleveland Alexander, for nineteen years the idol of the major leagues, from the Dallas club of the Texas loop.

Alexander, one of the greatest hurlers of all times, was dropped from the local squad late yesterday.

"Old Pete" joined the steers here a month ago at a fabulous salary as a gate attraction. He was suspended several days ago and waivers asked on him when he violated training rules, but appeals from fans and friends brought about his reinstatement and Sunday he was given another chance. He lasted an inning in a relief role, walked a man and allowed a score with a wild pitch. He left the box limping and it was found he had suffered a sprained knee.

"He was of no further service to the club," Vice President Tarleton said in announcing Alex's release.

"Nothing to say," was Alexander's comment.

Superspeed Camera Records Jones' Golf Shots for Scientific Study

ATLANTA, July 22—(AP)— A photographic study of the golfing wizardry of Bobby Jones which one golf expert described as the "greatest forward step in golf teaching" ever made has been completed here with a superspeed camera taking 3,200 pictures a second.

Details of the study, made for the professional golfers association of America at the East Lake Country club, Bobby's home course yesterday, was revealed today.

C. Francis Jenkins of Washington, inventor of television and broadcasting of motion pictures, George Sargent, former president of the P. G. A. and John W. Ogle, a cameraman, were in charge of the work.

Camera One of Four.

The world's greatest golfer executed his strokes in actual shots while the camera, one of four of its kind in the world, roared wildly as its highspeed mechanism recorded the strokes for posterity.

After the tests Jones demonstrated a few practice strokes on the fairway and ended the afternoon by dropping one 180-yard iron shot into the hole.

Sargent said there has been "too much guess work and tradition in the teaching of golf" and that the machine "is the only thing we have found that will show what actually takes place in a golfing stroke. In every detail. It is the purpose of the P. G. A., to make a complete set of shots by Bobby Jones, the greatest of the modern golfers; and of Harry Vardon, greatest of the old masters of golf; and of Miss Joyce Wethered, greatest of women players," he said. Sargent and Ogle will sail August 5 for England to make pictures of Miss Wethered and Vardon.

For Use of Pros.

"When these three sets are completed, carefully selected strokes will be printed for distribution among the members of the P. G. A., for their own study and guidance in the teaching of golf. It is my firm conviction that these pictures will clear up for the first time, and for all time to come, the many disputed and misunderstood details and phases of the golfing stroke." He said the tests were the greatest forward step ever taken in golf teaching.

The superspeed camera is operated by an automobile starter with two batteries attached, giving it eight horsepower. O. B. Keeler, golf writer for the Atlanta Journal, describing the tests, said "the 200 feet of film shoot through it in one second with a noise like the ripping up of 40,000 linen sheets. I told Bobby he never need do any flinching because of gallery noises, any more. He didn't seem to mind the fiendish racket at all.

Trio Pinch-Hitters Pound Out Homers

NEW YORK, July 22—(I. N. S.)—The performance contributed by three pinch-hitters in the first game of yesterday's double header between the Robins and St. Louis Cardinals was booked as a record today.

All three pinch-hitters knocked the ball out of the park. Jim Bottomley hit the first, swinging for Grimes; Puccinelli, delivered the next, swinging for Lindsey in the eighth; and Harvey Hendrick produced the third when he stepped up to the plate for Mickey Finn in the ninth and won the game with a far flung wallop over the right centerfield fence.

Nor is that quite all. Hal Lee was sent up to hit for Elliott in the second inning of the second game, and he too hammered a homer over the right field fence. Incidentally it was his first hit of the year.

The four homers accounted for eleven runs. Two were on when Puccinelli, Hendrick and Lee delivered, and Bottomley found one mate roosting on the bases.

The Macdonalds dropped the first game to Snyder, 6-4, but came back to swamp the opposition, 8-1, in the nightcap. The Monnichs duplicated the feat, dropping the curtain raiser to Blair, 4-3, and winning the second, 7-4. Hooper took a double win from Scribner, 2-1 and 5-4.

GROGAN FIGHTS BRUCE FLOWERS

Winner Booked to Meet Argentine Hope In Next Bout.

BY HYPE IGOE.

NEW YORK, July 22—For nearly three years matchmakers all over the country have been trying to bring Tommy Grogan and Bruce Flowers together. The little fellow from Omaha, he that carries T. N. T. in his fists, had Tony Canzoneri on the floor for a count of nine in the first round of their bout in the Queensboro stadium a few nights back.

Grogan is one of the best hitters among the lightweights, Flowers one of the most consistent. Among his best battles were the two with Jack Berg in Madison Square Garden.

Grogan and Flowers are to meet in the headline event at the Queensboro stadium tonight. The winner will be matched with the new lightweight star from South America, Justo Suarez, who made such a great impression against Joe Glick at the Yankee stadium last Thursday night.

Those Foul Blows.

Incidentally, both Glick and Suarez wore the Taylor protectors, and though Glick landed low several times, the Argentine didn't even peep. His actions certainly planted the lie among the fellows who have been going to the floor yelping foul of late. Suarez was hit low with great force in one instance, but only the crowd groaned. Justo didn't.

Louis Gutierrez, manager of "Keed" Chocolate, issues a long statement in which he takes our own Al Singer to task for Al's supposed announcement not to fight the Cuban bonbon.

Guiterrez points out that Singer, if he really intends to bar Chocolate, and personally I don't think he does, is doing something that Benny Leonard wasn't ashamed to do—he fought and knocked out Johnny Kilbane when Johnny was the featherweight king and himself the lightweight crown-bearer.

Chocolate and Singer drew $215,000 when they met and of this the "Keed" earned $44,000.

Bonbon Boxer Willing.

In the summer of 1928, Chocolate came here from Cuba determined to fight the best men that could be secured. The promoters laughed at him. He finally got a call to meet some boy at Mitchell Field, for which he got the staggering sum of $59.

In twelve months time he was a great big shot and got the bout with Singer which he won on a decision, and earned some $44,000 for his end.

Now he is to fight Jackie Berg on the same date, his lucky one, and his end ought to approach $60,000.

Last year, in appreciation of what the officials at Mitchell Field had done for him in giving him his start, Chocolate went down there and boxed Tony Lorenzo, knocking him out in six rounds. They turned away 10,000 persons that night, proving that the "Keed" had made himself famous since the night of his debut.

Carnera Ordered Return at Once to Native Shores

Ring Career of Primo Cut Short by Summons Report for Army Duty

OMAHA, Neb., July 21—(AP)—The Italian army has ended the American appearance of Primo Carnera, the vast exfighter from Venice.

Frank Paccassi, business manager for the Italian heavyweight, said last night that Carnera had received a summons to return forthwith to his native shores to serve out a year in uniform. Paccassi disclosed that a six months extension of the date on which Primo was to enter the army, granted by Mussolini himself, had expired.

The big boy's business manager prophesied an end to Carnera's career in the ring.

Fear Primo Through.

"After a year in the Italian army," Paccassi said, "Carnera won't be worth a darn. This is final curtains for Primo's career."

The summons to return to Italy came on the heels of Paccassi's announcement that government authorities had denied Carnera and his manager, Leon See, an extension of their stay in the United States.

The application to immigration authorities was forwarded from Omaha after Carnera and See came here last week for the Bearcat Wright fight.

Paccassi said Carnera and See were expected in Montreal sometime today and that the summons from Italy was received after their departure from Omaha.

A dispatch from the Washington bureau of the World Herald quotes W. W. Husband, head of immigration work for the department of labor, as saying that the decision of the department to deny Carnera and See a further extension of their stay in this country is final and that there is no way in which it can be appealed.

Refusal of the department to grant the extension requested of United States officials is purely a routine matter, based on departmental policy, the dispatch said.

SIX MONTHS ELAPSED.

NEW YORK. July 22—(AP)—Byron Uhl, immigration commissioner at Ellis Island said today that Primo Carnera, massive Italian fighter, had been notified that his six months' visitor's permit had expired and that he must leave the United States immediately.

Mr. Uhl said that Leon See, Carnera's manager also had been admitted under a visitors permit and was ordered to leave with his fighter.

No definite time was set for their departure, the government allowing them several days to settle their business affairs and make reservations, Mr. Uhl said.

Carnera is listed as an Italian citizen at Ellis Island and See as a French citizen.

BASS EASY FOR TONY CANZONERI

Former Feather Champ Proves No Match For New Yorker.

PHILADELPHIA, July 22—(AP)—Tony Canzoneri, rugged New Yorker, finds Benny Bass as easy to conquer as a junior lightweight as he did as a featherweight.

Three years ago Canzoneri won the featherweight crown from Bass and last night he gave the Philadelphian, who is recognized in many states as junior lightweight champion, one of the worst beatings of his career in a 10-round bout at the Phillies ball park. Although the match had been arranged as a non-title bout, it was reported that Canzoneri would claim the championship. When they weighed in at 2 p. m. yesterday before the state athletic commission Bass weighed 125¼, while Canzoneri scaled only 129¾, a quarter of a pound below the junior lightweight limit.

Tony May Claim Title.

Due to the wording of the contract, which stipulated that the New Yorker must weigh more than 130, Frank Wiener, chairman of the commission ordered Tony to go out and eat. When he returned he weighed 131¼. The reports said that Canzoneri would claim the title because he was under the junior lightweight limit at the official weighing-in time.

Bass won only three rounds, and these by narrow margins. Canzoneri took two and two were even. Benny encountered an aggressive foeman who flailed him at every turn. Early in the bout Tony opened [illegible] over Bass' right eye and he made this a target for his [illegible] thereafter.

CHICAGO LEADS LEAGUE PARADE

Cubs Blank Giants As Dodgers Split Pair With Cardinals.

Manager Joe McCarthy, the minor leaguer who made good in the "big time" without previous major league experience, today had the Chicago Cubs again out in front, setting the pace in the hectic National league pennant scramble.

The Cubs moved into the ruling seat yesterday by blanking the Giants 6 to 0 while the Robins were breaking even with the St. Louis Cardinals. Brooklyn taking the first encounter 9 to 8 and the Cards the closing contest 17 to 10. The Cubs' victory and the Robins' even break sent the champions to the front by one-half game. Here is how the standing looks today: Chicago won 52, lost 37 for .584; Brooklyn won 50, lost 36 for .581.

Hack Homers Twice.

Hack Wilson, the National league's home run king, played an important role in the Cubs victory. He pounded out his twenty-eighth and twenty-ninth homer, which coupled with Eddie Farrell's hit of the same nature accounted for five runs. The other was a gift from Roy Parmalee, who relieved Tiny Chaplin in the seventh.

Pinch home runs were almost as common as base hits in the Robins-Cardinals fracas. Bottomley and Puccinelli were called in from the Cardinals dugout in the first game and they made good with home runs, which coupled with homers by Frisch and Mancuso totaled St. Louis eight runs in the opener. They all went for nought, however, when Manager Robinson sent Harvey Hendrick in to bat for Finn in the ninth with two men on base, two out and the Robins trailing by two runs. Harvey sent the ball sailing over the fence. three runs crossed the plate and the game was over. The second contest was all Cardinals, however, as they pounded old Adolfo Luque from the mound and then fell on Elliott, Dudley and Clark just as ferociously. Frisch connected with his second home run of the day and Lee hit one for Brooklyn as a pinch hitter in the first inning.

Phils Finally Win.

Lester Sweetland had one of his good days as the Phillies trimmed the Pirates, 7 to 2. Home runs by Southern and Whitney featured the attack that centered in the first and fifth rounds.

The leaders in the American league found the going tough, the Athletics losing to the Tigers 7 to 6 and the Senators dropping their second successive game to the Browns 6 to 4.

George Earnshaw was the victim of the Tigers' eleven hit attack, which included seven extra base hits. The champions managed to stay in the running until the ninth when Charlie Gehringer, who had tripled and stole home in the fifth, led off a rally with a double.

Nats Lose Tough One.

Although held to five hits by Handley, Brown and Liska, the Browns took advantage of nine bases on balls to defeat the Senators. Stewart, who went the route for the winners, scattered Washington's ten hits.

Babe Ruth poled out his thirty-fifth home run and Lou Gehrig his twenty-eighth as Ed Wells won his eighth game when the Yankees defeated the Indians 7 to 3. Harry Rice also hit the ball over the fence for the Yankees.

Boston broke up the White Sox three-game winning streak by taking the final of the series 3 to 1 behind Horace Lisenbee's fine pitching. The Sox total hits numbered five, three of which were made by Carl Reynolds. The game was the fastest of the season at Comiskey park, being played in one hour 24 minutes.

Donie Bush Busy Rebuilding Club

CHICAGO, July 22—(AP)—If there is any way of making a contender out of the Chicago White Sox, Donie Bush is wasting no time in locating it.

Many and vigorous have been the changes since Bush took charge of Charles A. Comiskey's club. The great Art Shires was traded off to Washington for Pitcher Garland Braxton and Catcher Bennett Tate, as the first important shift.

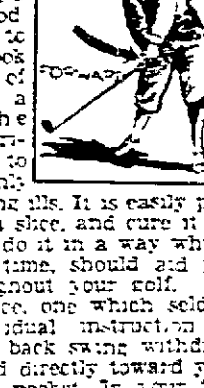

John Clancy, who played first during Shire's incapacity because of injuries, and suspensions, and the great one left, was benched last week and Johnny Watwood, an outfielder, moved to the first station. Bill Cissell was left at second but the veteran Willie Kamm, leading fielding third baseman of the American league in 1928 and 1929, was replaced by Blondy Ryan, just in from Holy Cross university. The other member of the original infield, Johnny Kerr, also was set aside in favor of a youngster—Gregory Mulleavy, shortstop acquired from Toledo.

Robert Roy Fothergill, Detroit outfielder for several seasons, last week was obtained for the waiver price, and to make room for him, Alex Metzler, Sox utility outfielder for the last three seasons, was waived to St. Louis yesterday.

Among those who have moved on during the reorganization are Pitchers Weiland and Sarge George Connally, and Infielders Bill Hunnefield and Ernie Smith.

Good Golf.

BY CHESTER HORTON, "Golf's Greatest Teacher."

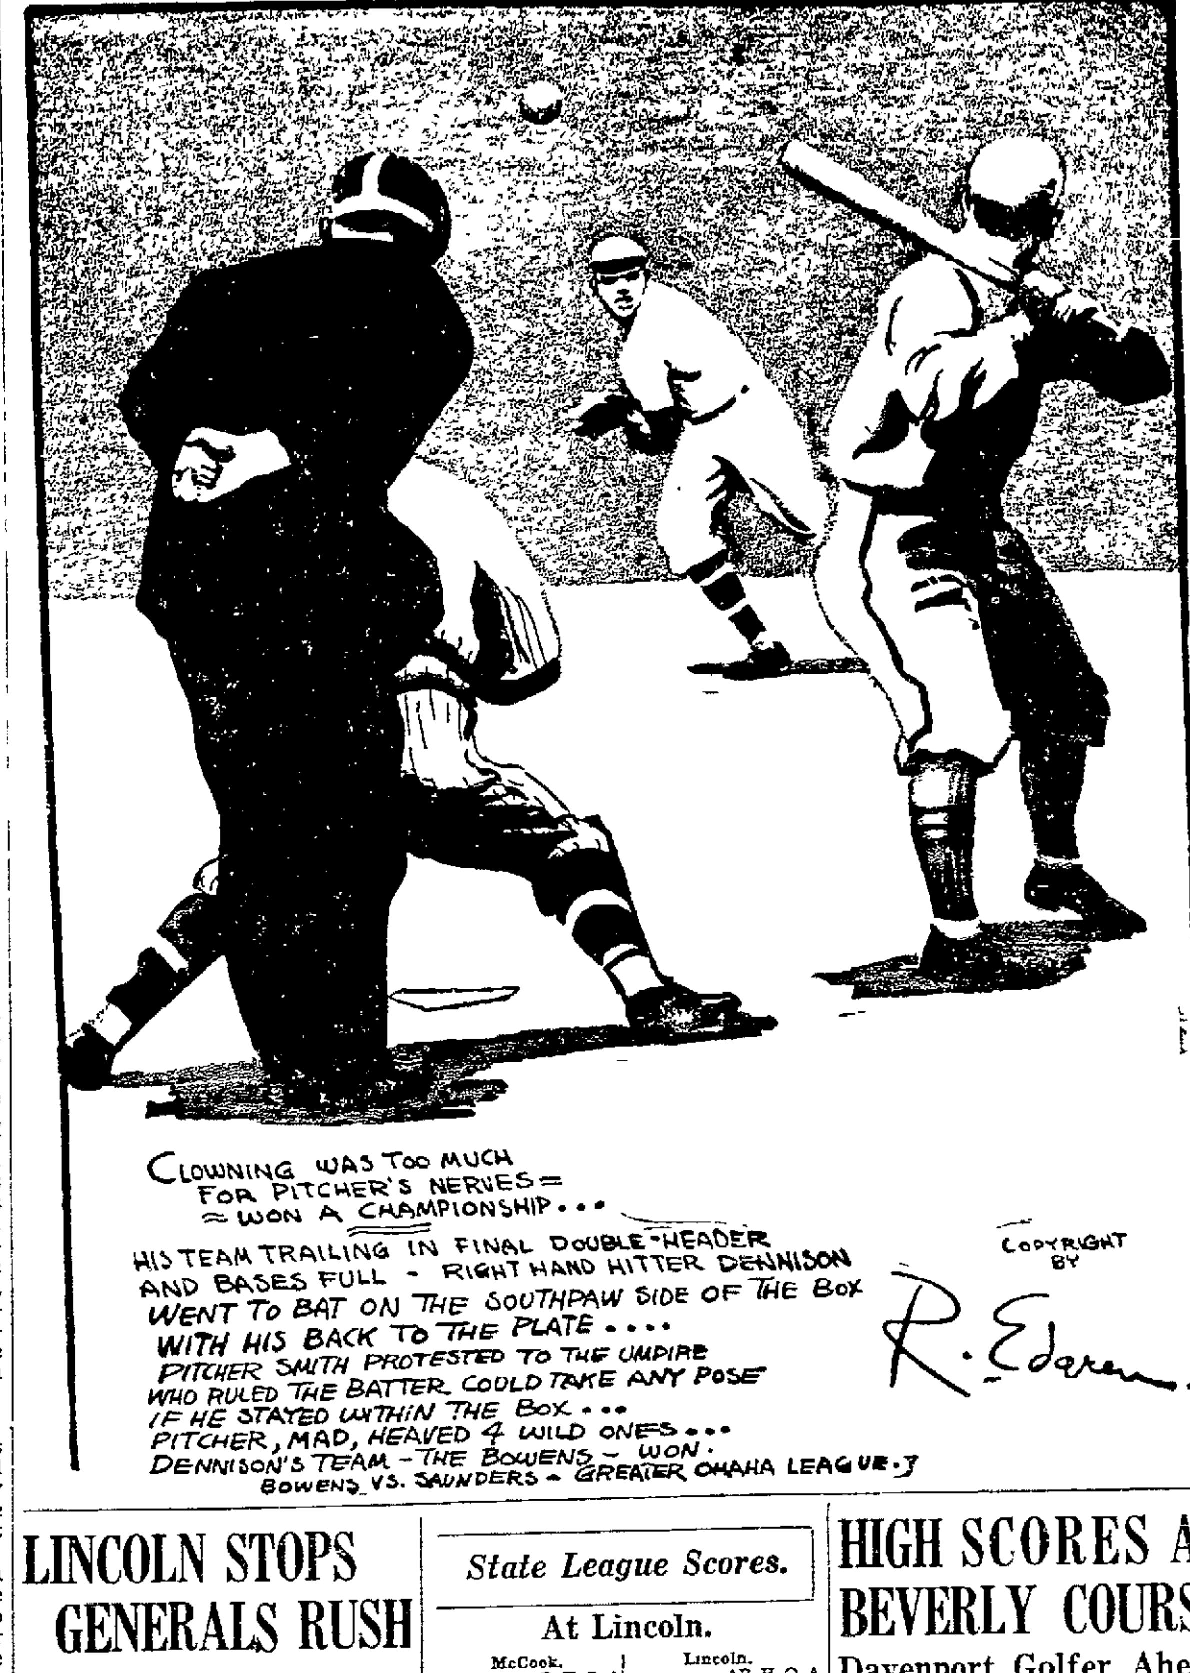

In curing a slice, or trying to, the golfer often makes the common mistake of trying to rid himself of one fault by adopting another. It is not a sound method for instance, to play for a hook as a means of forgetting a slice. The "counter irritant," so to speak, can only multiply golfing ills. It is easily possible to cure a slice, and cure it for keeps and to do it in a way which, at the same time, should aid you greatly throughout your golf. My cure for a slice, one which seldom fails in individual instruction is this. In your back swing withdraw your left hand directly toward your right trousers pocket. In your forward swing, move your arms downward with the thought of shoving your right hand directly into your right trousers pocket. At the same time, keep your head still and have your attention on the ball. This action causes the clubhead to swing in a true circle, or ellipse. You need add to your swing only the action of pulling your left arm clear through the ball. Swing that way and you should be able to forget your slice—in a hurry.

The long odds the most satisfying shot in golf is the drive and many hold it to be the most useful shot. Chester Horton's new monograph almost guarantees you a good drive. It is so simple and easy to grasp. This fine instruction will be sent free. Address Chester Horton, care this newspaper, and enclose a stamped self-addressed envelope. Ask for the monograph, "Driving."

LINCOLN STOPS GENERALS RUSH

Nunamakers Open Series With 14-8 Victory Over McCook.

Lincoln's winning streak mounted to three Monday night at Landis Yard when the proteges of Leslie Nunamaker hammered out a 14-8 victory over the league-leading McCook Generals. Sloan, Myers and Christiansen saw duty on the hillock for the Links, with the latter getting credit for the win. Sloan hurled shutout ball for two innings, but McCook began finding the range and rifled out enough base hits for scores and Clair retired with none gone in the sixth. The Generals shellacked Myers, relief pitcher from the mound and Chris strolled to the pitchers' box for the third successive game. The Generals were promptly tamed throughout the remainder of the game, during which time Chris allowed no hits.

Platters Drop Another.

North Platte, league leader for the first ten days of the second season, dropped another to the Dukes of York Monday, the final count being 6-4. Railsback, York pitcher, allowed 12 hits, but kept them scattered enough so that the Platters were unable to capitalize on them.

HIGH SCORES AT BEVERLY COURSE

NEBRASKANS IN PLAY.

Jack Hughes, Omaha veteran, took a 46-40—86 and Rodney Bliss young Omaha player, had a 40-48—88 for the first 18 holes of the qualifying round in the western amateur.

Bliss in a practice round Sunday equalled the Beverly course record with a 72, one over par.

CHICAGO, July 22—(AP)—A new high qualifying limit appears certain for the thirty-third western amateur golf championship today as the second half of the 36 hole drive opened over the stubborn Beverly County club course.

So conveniently did old man par, safely entrenched behind Beverly's 6,702 yard stretch of traps, bunkers and trees whip the contenders in the first 18 hole round yesterday that a 72, one over par, topped the large field of 215 entrants and a pair of 78s, perhaps a pair of eighties, looked good enough to land among those who fight for the crown over the match play route from tomorrow on.

Davenport Entry Low.

Lloyd Nordstrom, a rank outsider from Davenport, Ia., who had to talk his way into the fight because his entry card had been mislaid, led the field with the 72 as the second half of the 36 hole drive opened today. One shot behind him were Cyril Tolley of Great Britain, one of the title threats, Johnny Lehman of Chicago and Don Armstrong of Aurora, Ills.

Don Moe of Portland, Oregon, the defending champion, had no worries until tomorrow because by rules he was not forced to qualify. Moe got acquainted with the course long after the last two-some had left the starting tee yesterday but in his own words his score was "terrible."

Most of the favorites appeared safe in the battle for qualification today although they were not on talking terms with par. T. Philip Perkins, former British amateur champion now residing in New York, and Charles "Chick" Evans of Chicago, eight times holder of the western title, had 75s; Bob McCrary of Des Moines, trans-Mississippi champion, and Keefe Carter, western champion in 1925, were considered safe with a pair of 77s while Gibson Dunlap of Los Angeles also had a 77. Vincent Dolp of Portland, Ore., Pacific coast collegiate champion, was on the border line with a 79.

Deep traps and lightning fast, undulating greens were largely responsible for the heavy toll of strokes in yesterday's 18 hole round. Most of the players escaped the rough in good shape but dropped strokes around the carpet.

SIXTEEN FIELD REMAIN IN RACE

Pegler Defeat An Upset In Opening Round City Tourney.

The Lincoln city golf championship field was narrowed to sixteen competitors Tuesday as the title aspirants in the 1930 tournament enjoyed a day's rest before resuming the Wednesday grind which will not be halted until a city champion has been declared Saturday afternoon. Play in the tournament schedule at the Shrine club Tuesday was given over entirely to the three lower flights.

Although majority of the favorites came through in expected fashion, the opening day of match play in the city compet was not without its upsets and odd turns. Numbered among the unexpected returns was Tony Blish's defeat of Don Pegler, one of the leading shooters in the Lincoln Country club ranks. Pegler was one down going to eighteen green but got a nice iron to the green and squared the match. Pegler, however, was in trouble down the fairway and off the green on the extra hole. Blish, a Shrine club entry, barreling a par five for the win.

The Blish-Pegler match was not the only championship argument to go past the customary 18 holes. Harry Kaufman, young Lincoln high golfer, locked with Charley Black, University of Nebraska basketball coach, in a heated duel which was not decided until the nineteenth green.

Kaufman Beats Black.

Black found himself dormie as he came to No. 17 tee. He picked up the hole, squared the match on eighteen and then lost out on the extra hole when his par five was one stroke over the birdie four turned in by the youthful Kaufman.

Joe Tucker, tournament medalist, had a tight rub in his match with George Segrist, Shrine club campaigner. The pair was all even going to eighteen, Tucker taking the hole to win the match 1 up.

Neil Hall, another Lincoln high golfer, came close to coming in with an upset in his match with Phil Aitken, former city champion. Aitken and Hall played the entire distance, Hall being dormie going to the final hole and Aitken making a par withstand the threat and win the match 2 up.

Folsom Defeats West.

Victor West of the Shrine club, gave Willard Folsom, Lincoln Country club and former city champion, interesting argument. Folsom had the edge in experience and won 3 and 2.

The Harrison family brought in two victories. R. H. Harrison, sr., won a tight match from Frank Smodynes, 1 up, and Bob Harrison, jr., eliminated Claude Burt, 3 and 2.

Paul Strauch, astride caddymaster, bested Wilbur Haegen, Antelope junior, 3 and 2, while Bob Latsch, another Eastridge entry, finished 3 and 2 ahead of George Williams. Joe Edwards, a leading Shrine club entry, eliminated Emmett Morava, youthful Pioneer club entry, 2 up.

Wilson Easy Winner.

H. R. "Monk" Wilson, defending champion had little trouble with Les Schreiner, Antelope club. Wilson won 8 and 7, taking a 35 for the outside nine.

Frank Reeve crashed in with a 6 and 5 victory over Arch Bunting, fellow Country club member, and Roy Wythers, one of the best at Eastridge, defeated Clayton Andrews of the Country club 4 and 3.

Joe Alters, Shrine, beat Bill McEntire of the same club, 6 and 5. Stan Tabor bested A. A. Koenig, 3 and 2 in another all-Shrine affair.

Fisher Trims Albrecht.

F. W. Albrecht of Eastridge, was one of the city's golf [illegible] from the [illegible] opening day. Albrecht fell before the cool play of Morris Fisher, University of Nebraska [illegible] athlete. Fisher won 3 and 2.

Both players were [illegible] on the first nine which ended all square, with both shooting 42s.

Fisher was having trouble with his wood shots, slicing his tee shot out of bounds on the first hole. He again was out of bounds on the long 577-yard No. 4. Albrecht won the first, fourth and seventh holes, and Fisher won the third, fifth and sixth. He laid Albrecht a perfect stymie to halve the second.

On the inside nine Fisher played fine golf, winning the first four holes. He won the tenth with a par 4, got a birdie on the par-5 eleventh and missed a short putt for a birdie on the short twelfth, winning with a par three. On the thirteenth Fisher laid his approach dead and holed a birdie three. The fourteenth was halved in par, and Albrecht found himself dormie four. He rallied and won the next hole with a par 4, but was short on the 195-yard No. 15 and, although Fisher three-putted his four was good enough for a half, ending the match.

Fisher consistently hit long tee shots, usually being well inside his opponent. His approaches on the second nine were exceptional. The card:

Out—

Par	5 5 3 7 4 4 5 4 4	42
Albrecht	5 5 4 6 5 5 4 4 4	42
Par	5 4 3 5 4 4 4 3 4	36

RESUME PLAY WEDNESDAY.

The championship flighters will resume play Wednesday. The second round pairings include a number of high caliber matches.

H. R. Wilson, the champion, is drawn against Tony Blish, a fellow Shrine club member. Blish eliminated Don Pegler and is figured to give the defending champion a good run.

Frank Reeve and Bill Folsom, both of the Country club, will clash in a match between veterans of numerous golf campaigns. The Phil Aitken-Bob Latsch match also [illegible] be a thriller.

Tilden In Shape Play Friday in Challenge Round for Davis Cup

AUTEUIL, France, July 22—(AP)—Big Bill Tilden's sprained ankle was so much improved this afternoon that he played three hard, fast sets with his youthful Davis cup teah-mate, George Martin Lott, jr., and beat him. The scores were 6-3, 6-8, 6-4 and both Americans played as though something vital was at stake on the outcome.

Tilden manifested a slight limp on his left foot but it did not prevent him from covering plenty of court.

Indications therefore, were that Big Bill Tilden would be in perfect condition when the United States' Davis cup team takes the courts in Roland Garros stadium for the challenge round matches with France on Friday.

Big Bill turned an ankle in practice with Karel Kozeluh, Czechoslovakian professional, yesterday a few hours after it was definitely announced he would be a member of the American team. For a time it was feared the injury would be serious enough to handicap the Philadelphian and perhaps to keep him out of challenge round play altogether but physicians later declared he would be fit for the first day's play on Friday.

Veterans Main Strength.

Those who had hoped to see home new blood in the contesting teams this year are doomed to disappointment for the brunt of the struggle once more will fall on those who have borne it for three years.

Barring last minute changes, Tilden and George Lott will play the singles for the United States and Wilmer Allison and John Van Ryn the doubles. Allison and Van Ryn have held the British doubles title for two years and amazed the experts by beating Henri Cochet and Jean Borotra crack French pair, in the challenge round a year ago.

France will pin its faith on Cochet and Borotra in the singles again but may use Christian Boussus and Jacques Brugnon in doubles. The French lineup depends in a measure upon how the defenders fare in the opening singles matches. If either Cochet or Borotra, or both, win then Boussus and Brugnon are almost certain to play doubles since the French are virtually conceding victory to Allison and Van Ryn already. If, however, France loses both the opening singles match. Cochet and Borotra will be thrown into the breach in doubles in an effort to halt the American youngsters.

MARKET QUOTATIONS

GRAIN MARKETS.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, July 22

Fears of a return of extremely high temperatures carried the corn market aloft today, and imparted firmness to quotations on wheat. Notwithstanding that numerous points in the corn belt reported more or less moisture had been received overnight, corn prices mounted rapidly, and in some cases showed 4c a bushel gain as compared with yesterday's finish. The north American available supplies of corn decreased 633,000 bushels and are now only 4,000,000 bushels against 12,-794,000 bushels a year ago.

Corn closed nervous 1¾-3¾c a bushel higher than yesterday's finish. July 88⅜; Sept., 91⅞-⅝; Dec., 97⅞-½c; Wheat closed unsettled ½-¾c advanced, and provisions unchanged to a rise of 5c.

At noon wheat was ⅜ to ⅝c net higher, and corn 1⅞ to 3⅛c up.

Influenced by sharp upturns in corn values, wheat scored price gains early today, despite a sag at the start. The rise of the corn market was associated with the fact that recent rains have failed to reach large sections of the corn belt, and that indications today pointed to a return of hot weather. Opening unchanged to ½c off, wheat later rallied, showing something of an advance for all deliveries. Corn started at ½c off to ⅝c up, and subsequently took a general pump higher. Oats were firm. Provisions suffered neglect.

Disturbing reports about the condition of Illinois corn fields became more numerous as the day wore on. Messages from Jacksonville said much corn has been hurt by hot winds and that pastures have been burned up. Danville dispatches said the corn crop has been cut to 10 bushels an acre, and promises to go back fast. Adverse reports were also received from Streator, Quincy and Cairo. Arrivals of corn at Chicago today were 142 cars, a week ago 78 and a year ago 70.

Active speculative buying went hand in hand with higher prices today for corn. There were also reports current that throughout Ford, Iroquois, Vermillion and Kankakee counties, Illinois, corn on heavy black land is curling, and that on thin soil the crop has begun to fire, needing rain at once, prolonged dearth of rain, it was reported, would mean serious damage.

Wheat market responses to the strength shown by corn values today were checked by big arrivals of wheat at various domestic centers. Today's wheat receipts in Omaha especially were much enlarged, totaling 613 cars against 45 cars a week ago and 379 cars on the corresponding day last year. Meanwhile, too, Liverpool wheat quotations were depressed, and exporters were asserted to be selling wheat future deliveries at Winnipeg.

The spot basis for corn showed some change, with country offerings only fair. Oats were firmer sympathizing with other grain.

Despite setbacks in hog values provisions were slightly firmer on account of upturns in cereals.

NEW YORK STOCK MARKET.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, July 22

Professional speculation for the rise was actively resumed in today's stock market, on the theory that yesterday's shake out had rid the market of weak hangers-on and materially strengthened its position.

Net advances of 2 to 6 points were numerous in important shares, and several reached new highs for the movement. U. S. Steel, American Telephone, General Electric, and Standard of N. J., gained 2 points or more, and shares closing about 3 to 4 higher included Radio, Westinghouse Electric, Consolidated Gas, American Can, Vanadium, America Tobacco B and Houston Oil. Eastman Kodak was up 6 at the finish.

Bull forces confidently resumed their advance in today's stock market, having consolidated their position in the recession of the past two sessions.

Although the reaction yesterday, wiping out the advance of the entire previous week was a little disconcerting in its severity, it was regarded in brokerage circles as having represented merely momentary withdrawal of support rather than important liquidation. Professional traders who had been awaiting an opportunity to get into the market at lower levels replaced those who took their profits and deserted the cause.

Public participation in the market held at a low ebb, but speculators for the rise expect that the attracting of a public following again will be a slow process. Commission house opinion remained midly optimistic, but was nclned to look for further temporary reactions. As the market quickly becomes overbought with participation as limited as it is, and business news providing little encouragement.

The days ndustrial and corporate news indicated that current operations are coming increasingly under the influence of midsummer quiet. Steel mill operations in the Chicago district have been cut this week to between 55 and 60 per cent of capacity, against 60 to 65 per cent last week.

Second quarter and first half earnings statements continued to show notable exceptions to the downward tendency. Allis Chalmers reported first half net of $1.87 a share, against $1.73; General Foods, $2.01 U. S. 1.89 and U. S. Leather showed a small balance for the quarter against a large deficit last year. Westinghouse Electric's first hlf net of $3.13 a share, however, was substantially below the $4.93 reported for the same period a year ago, and Atlantic Refining's $1.05 for the first half was only one third the net reported a year ago.

Early estimates of last week's crude oil output indicated further curtailment of about 30,000 barrels a day, largely in the mid continent area, which encouraged further activity in the oils. Credit conditions were unchanged, with call loans officially at 2 per cent.

Further selling appeared at the opening, but pivotal stocks were well supported, and before midday bullish activity became vigorous. There was another faltering spellin the early afternoon, when the more active stocks sold off from a fraction to a point from their best levels.

American Can was a leader, rising more than four oints in active trading. General Motors was active, but advanced only moderately. Its second quarter statement will apear in a few days, and is expected to show net of about $1.20 a share, against 98 cents in the first quarter. Such issues as U. S. Steel, General Electric, Radio Keith, Radio, Standard of N. J. Du Pont, Sears Roebuck, Montgomery Ward, New York Central, Electric Auto Lite, and Johns-Manville advanced about 2 to 3 points.

Among the wider gainers was Auto Strop, which moved up about 5 to a new top, accompanied by unconfirmed rumors of a merger deal with Gilette. Eastman and International Business Machines sold up more than 5, and Case Jumped ten.

Sagging tendencies that dominated the stock market opening were quickly checked today. After about half an hour of moderate selling, in which some of the trading favorites dipped a point or so, the list turned upward, converting losses into net gains of similar amounts.

U. S. Steel, which had eased fractionally rallied more than a point. American Telephone turned a drop of a point into a net improvement of nearly 2. Advances of 1 to 2 were shown by American Can, Allied Chemical, Westinghouse, General Electric, Chesapeake & Ohio, Gillette, North American, Du Pont, Johns-Manville and Radio. Eastman Kodak rose 3 and J. I. Case 5. Atchison regained about half of an early loss of more than 2 points.

Call money renewed at 2 per cent.

Price movements were irregular at the opening of today's stock market, as support appeared for several pivotal shares. U. S. Steel and American Can each opened up ¼. Consolidated Gas, ¼, and General Electric ⅝. Nevertheless, Union Pacific lost 2, and Westinghouse Electric, American Telephone and Atchison, about a point. Columbia Gas lost ¾.

In the main, stocks worked lower during the early trading, but a handful of shares continued to meet good support, and by the end of the first half hour, the decline was checked. Technical trading conditions continued to govern the market, as business news was not impressive.

The condition statement of weekly reporting federal reserve member banks reversed the more favorable trend notable of late, and showed a gain of $57,000,000 in security loans and a loss of $20,000,000 in all other commercial loans. Both time and demand deposits, however, recorded an aggregate gain of $270,000,000, and the general banking condition showed further strength.

U. S. Steel crept gradually higher during the early trading, soon showing a gain of ¾. American Can and Consolidated Gas extended their gains to about a point, Vanadium gained more than a point, and Case, 3.

Westinghouse Electric sold off about 2 poitns before rallying. Union Pacific and General ailway Signal lost 3, Auburn, Atchison and National Biscuit about 2, and Lambert, Kennecott, U. S. Industrial Alcohol, Public Service of N. J., and Columbian Carbon, a point or so.

Foreign Exchanges were again steady to firm, with Sterling Cables at $4.86 11-16, up 1-32.

There were slight recessions from the highs of the day in many of the market leaders, but railying tendencies were resumed in the late trading when leading shares showed net gains of one to 4 points and more. American Can, Vanadium and Houston Oil were u pand Radio, Westinghouse Electric, Electric autolite Du Pont and American Tobacco "B" 2 to 3. Wrigley and Briggs made new highs. Bethlehem Steel was heavy, although it recovered part of its extreme drop of nearly 4 points. The close was firm. Sales approximated 2,000,000 shares.

NEW YORK BOND REVIEW.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, July 22.

The listed bond market showed slight improvement today. Activity picked up somewhat from Monday which was put down as one of the dullest sessions of the year.

Railroad mortgage bonds held their upward trend, while utility issues suffered slightly from profit taking. Stock privilege issues were firm but showed no disposition to stage a rally to regain the losses suffered yesterday when they followed the downward movement on the big board. The greatest strength was shown by foreign government bonds with German issues particularly buoyant. United States governments also moved forward.

Money rates remained unchanged. The action of the federal reserve bank of New York in extending its rate of 1⅞ per cent to cover 75-day bills was accepted in financial circles as an effort to dispel the current impression that the extreme ease in the price of credit had about run its course. Bond men hoped that the action would have a favorable psychological effect on bond buying which has slowed up the past two weeks.

The weekly statement of federal reserve member banks showed some improvement in bond buying. Despite a reduction in New York, purchases in the interim brought in increase of $28,000,000 in the holdings of "other securities," and holdings of United States governments expanded $54,000,000.

Most of the price changes in railroad bonds were unimportant, and fluctuations of ¼ of a point were common. Missouri, Kansas and Texas 4s gained nearly a point to approach its 1930 high. St. Paul Adjustment 5s and Rock Island 4½s were active and firm. St. Louis San Francisco 4½s, and Southern Railway 4s moved lower.

Utilities moved irregularly lower, with American Telephone 5s of 1960, Columbia Gas and Electric 5s among the soft spots.

Among industrials Sinclair Pipe line 5s climbed to a new 1930 peak price with a gain of nearly a point, and U. S. Rubber 5s more than retained its yesterday's loss.

A strong demand developed for German issues, German 7s and German 5½s were firm, while German Central Agricultural bank issues, Rhine-Westphalian Westphal 6s, and United Steel Works 6½s gained from ½ to more than a point. Japan 5½s were extremely accumulated at higher prices.

A central institute has been formed to offer $17,000,000 ¼ per cent 3 year Hungarian bonds carrying the right to convert into long term loan part of the issue will be offered in the United States.

CHICAGO, July 22

HOGS—While the other livestock markets were showing some signs of settling down to a steady trade at last, hogs were taking another bad tumble in the opening rounds this morning. The market was slow, indicating shipping indifference, and concessions of 15@25c were again made by salesmen even in their offerings of light butchers. Bids of $9.30 and $9.40 were as high as buyers would go for lights. All the important centers showed a slow and draggy dressed pork trade yesterday.

CATTLE—Even heavy cattle were held to make steady prices today with the first really good chance to make the grade in a week. Lighter weights were preferred, and tended to pick up a bit, as the run was small, nearly 2,000 less than last Tuesday, and the bulk of the run was of good quality. Early sales at $10@10.50 for light steers were considered fully as high as yesterday, while weightier kinds were moving at below $10 for the most part, and rather slowly.

SHEEP—Not much hope for lambs appeared today, and sellers indicated that steady prices would be satisfactory. Prices of $9.00@9.50 for good light natives were recorded. The eleven markets had 58,200 today, against 56,300 a week ago today.

A more favorable view of the weather outlook promoted by the forecasts for showers in the western and parts of the central belts seemed responsible for declines in cotton here today.

Trading became quiet on declines of some 7 to 10 oints from yesterday's closing quotations for new crop months.

The market steadied up a few points from the lowest wit hthe tone fairly steady at 12.92 for the new October and 13.16 for January, around o'clock, when the more active positions were within 2 or 3 points of yesterday's close.

At the end of the first half hour the market was quiet with prices holding 2 to 3 points above yesterday's close.

There was also some near month liquidation which sent July down to 12.74, a net decline of 21 points, but offerings tapered off at the lower figures and the market showed rallies of 4 or 5 points from the lowest at midday.

NEW YORK CURB REVIEW.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, July 22.

Prices firmed in the curb market today, but speculative interest was limited. Utilities were fairly active and there was some demand for the oils based on the improvement in the production figures from the mid-continent fields. In general, however, the session was dull, with comparatively little trading for either account.

Irregularly lower prices of the opening gave way to firmness when it became apparent that yesterday's short selling was not being resumed in any volume, and confidence seemed to increase. Electric Bond & Share pushed well above 80 for the best gain among the active utility shares. American Gas & Electric and American Light & Traction were almost equally strong.

Advances in the oil shares were nominal. Humble, Houston and Cosden turned over in small blocks at higher levels and were joined by Cities Service and Gulf. Indiana Pipe line rose a point.

There was little news affecting the industrials or specialties, which were dull.

Investment company shares were dull and mostly firm. United Founders ran into selling that carried the stock into new low ground.

Three Young Wisconsin Holdups Escape; Cashier is Slugged.

HARTFORD, Wis., July 22—(AP)—Three men robbed the First National bank here of about $100,000 shortly before noon today after slugging the cashier and threatening customers.

Two customers and five employes were in the bank when the robbers, all young men, walked in shortly after 11 a. m. The leader strolled over to the cashier, R. W. Bailey, and without warning slugged him over the head with the butt of a pistol. The two others took positions on opposite sides of the lobby and stood guard. The leader then ordered the assistant cashier, H. L. Radke, to open the safe "or we'll open you up."

The leader then made a hurried trip through the safe and the cages, picking up $15,000 in currency and $85,000 in securities, nearly all of which were negotiable. He was joined by his two pals and all of them escaped.

The leader was well-dressed, in a brown suit and hat. The others wore rougher clothes. All were about average build and appeared to be between 25 and 30 years old.

BUILDING PERMITS

A. G. Anderson, 1407 North Nineteenth street, frame garage $40.

Bill Henderson, Yankee recruit pitcher, was first picked up by Buck Herzog in the Third Corps Area of the Army.

City Briefs

Has Perilous Job—Intense heat of the past few weeks has created a perilous job for one employe of the concern completing the exterior of the Nebraska capitol dome. At intervals each day, this workman must clamber out on the unfinished dome and scatter water over its surface to prevent buckling. He clings to a rope suspended from the base of the "Sower" while he works. The dome is nearly 400 feet above the street.

Fixes Inheritance Tax—County Judge Reed Tuesday fixed the amount of the inheritance tax on the estate of Lucy A. Bessey, who died December 3, 1929, at $144.56.

Petition For rPobate — Petition for probate of the will of Ernst William Rolfsmeyer, Hallam, who died June 28, was filed in county court early Tuesday. The will divided the estate into equal shares among the brothers and sisters of the deceased, or their heirs. The will names Edward Lauterbach and Jake Schwaninger as joint executors, but the petition asks the appointment of Lauterbach.

Compensation Award—Two awards of full death benefit compensation to dependent widows of men fatally injured in accidents during the course of their employment have been made by the state labor department in cases at Omaha. Clifford N. Whitehill died in June, 1929, from the efects of a skull fracture he sustained in striking his head on a bench while working for the Koehler Construction Co. His widow, Linnea Whitehill, is to receive $14.40 per week for 350 weeks from the employing firm's surety, together with $150 for funeral expense. Hospital and medical expenses of $870 are also charged to the surety. Mrs. Jessie Newville is found entitled to $15 per week for $350 weeks, plus $150 for burial costs and the amount of medical and hospital bills, ensuing from the rupturing of an intestinal ulcer which caused the death of her husband, Paul, in the plant of the Dold Packing Co. at Omaha last January.

Store Window Broken

A large plate glass window in the Lerner Sho pat 1211 O street was shattered shortly after 11 o'clock Tuesday morning when a passing pedestrian accidently jarred a rod on the awning loose from its position causig the awning to fall through the window. The window was replaced Tuesday afternoon.

UNRULY HORSES DUE FOR LESSON

Bad Actors Ruled Off Track at Hawthorne Race Meeting.

CHICAGO, July 22—(AP)—Good manners at the post will be required of horses running in Hawthorne's 18-day meeting which opens Aug. 4.

The management has notified the owner of Reveille Boy, the surprise winner of the American derby at Washington park, that unless the thoroughbred's post conduct improves, he will not be permitted to race. The same warning has been sent to owners of other known bad actors.

The old Hawthorne oval will be available for owners wishing to school their horses in track etiquette, and known bad actors will be required to appear before starter Harry Morrissey for examination.

Good Handicap List.

CHICAGO, July 22—(AP)—A meeting between Blue Larkspur, Col. E. R. Bradley's 1929 three year old champion, which won the Arlington cup last Saturday, and Misstep, the Lamar stock farm stable's crack handicap horse, appears set for Saturday in the $35,000 Arlington handicap.

Misstep was rated with Blue Larkspur as favorite for the cup but pulled up lame and was withdrawn. The Bradley horse went out to win easily. Leo Marks, owner of Misstep, last night said the little red flash had recovered from its lameness and was almost certain to start.

Larkspur Ready.

Dick Thompson, Blue Larkspur's trainer, announced the horse had come through the cup race in excellent shape and had responded so well in work yesterday that a try for the $35,000 purse would be made Saturday.

Toro, which finished third behind Blue Larkspur and Petee Wrack, will be sent out to make another effort, and it was expected that Gallant Knight and Easter Stockings would be shipped from Latonia to Arlington for the race. Joseph E. Widener's Curate, Herbert B. Swope's Lativich, William T., Sun Beau, Dr. Freeland, Snowflake and Plucky Play, also are down as starters.

Big League Shrapnel.

If, as they say, action is eloquence, Hack Wilson was running around town today a modern demosthenes with loud-speaking attachments.

For that squat, ox-like gentleman spoke with two mighty blasts yesterday and when the last dying echoes of his two home runs had wafted down the Hudson the Giants had been stopped 6 to 0, the Cubs took the National plant lead from the Robins and Mr. Wilson became the leading four-base clout collector of the league with 29 super bingle-bangles to his credit. And, en passant, as they say in Hoboken, Fat Malone wasn't bad out there on the mound, allowing the young men of Manhattan only eight hits widely scattered over eight innings. Then of his own free will and accord he went to the showers as the mercury touched 99 or thereabouts. Charlie Root took up the cudgels in the ninth but with the heat and everything as it was, the Giants just gently subsided and let it go at that.

St. Louis split a doubleheader, 9 to 8 and 17 to 10 with the pip-stricken Robins. Hendrick, pinch-hitting, won the first game for the flock with a homer with two on in the ninth. In the tea tilter four Brooklyn pitchers were helpless as Hugh with four hits led the Cardinal sluggers to a killing.

Babe Ruth poked his 35th homer and Lou Gehrig hit his No. 28 as the Yankees slashed the Indians 7 to 3. Ruth is now 12 games ahead of his record year, 1927.

Charlie Gehringer tripled with a man on in the fifth and then stole home, paving the way for a 7 to 6 triumph of Detroit over the champion Athletics.

Stewart spaced ten hits he gave the Senators and the Brownies won again from Washington, 6 to 4.

Five safeties was all the White Sox could jar loose from Lisenbee, Boston taking it, 3 to 1.

Lester Sweetland was strong while Kremer weakened and the Phillies humbled the Pirates 7 to 2. Whitney and Southern circuited for Philadelphia.

The Reds and Braves were idle.

Johnson Directs Taming of Shires

By AL DEMAREE.

Connie Mack proved they can be managed when he got plenty of good baseball out of "Rube" Waddell and Ossie Schreck, his eccentric battery.

Gaze upon the list of eccentric baseball geniuses that have played ball for him in years past. "Bugs" Raymond, Cy Seymour, Larry McLean, Frank Bowerman, Joseph Devore, "Dummy" Taylor, Heinie Zimmerman, Arlie Latham, Ferdie Schupp, Mike Donlin and Earl Smith.

Cowdin Plans Sell Ponies At Auction

NEW YORK, July 22—(AP)—J. Cheever Cowdin, storm center of two American international polo teams, is quitting the game.

Cowdin's decision to abandon polo was revealed in the announcement that his string of polo ponies will be disposed of at public auction Aug. 20.

Cowdin, ranked at eight goals in 1922-23-27-28, made the American team picked to face the British in 1927 and then was dropped in a sudden shakeup. In 1928 he was selected to play against the Argentines but was dropped five days before the first game of the series. At that time Cowdin resigned as honorary treasurer of the United States polo association because of "differences of opinion with the policies of the association."

He declined to become a candidate for this year's international team.

PHILIP J. REID DEAD.

DETROIT, July 22—(AP)—Philip Joseph Reid, for twenty-two years managing editor of the Detroit Free Press, died suddenly last night from effects of the heat. He had been in poor health for more than four years. He was 65 years old. For forty years he had been in newspaper work. He became managing editor of the Free Press in 1904 and continued in that capacity until ill health forced him to resign in 1926.

MINERVA'S MAIL

Take Your Troubles To Minerva

Concerning Pictures.

Dear Minerva: Please tell me, if this is right: I have been married recently and my husband brought with him the picture of his brother's wife and children. They are beautiful and we have placed them prominently.

My sister seems very arrogant. I guess she doesn't mean it. She had her picture taken and said it should be where it could be seen. I have no picture of myself, nor would I insist on her having it around. She has pushed the picture of my husband's people over to suit herself.

I don't want to make my husband feel badly over such nonsense, but I think I would know my place as far as my sister's affairs are concerned. Will you please answer me, as I am all upset over it. I would have nothing to say about anything in her home.—MILDRED.

A. You'll have to be kind but firm. Your sister doubtless would resent very heartily if you took liberties with her home, and would not hesitate to tell you to mind your own business. You'll have to do the same by her, only do it as amicably as possible. Tell her you are glad to have her picture and will give it as much a place of honor in your home as you do your husband's sister-in-law and children, but that it is your's and your husband's home and she is not to interfere in its arrangement unless she gives you a kind suggestion that would be helpful and that you might like to adopt. If she is offended pay no attention. Just show her that you mean what you say.

On Entertainment.

Dear Minerva: I am a young lady who has never been able to entertain. Now I have a girl friend that is to be married soon. I would like to give her a shower and am asking you to plan my evening for me. I expect to have our girl friends. I would like to know what to serve, also when the gifts should be given her.—A READER.

A. It would be well to play games the first part of the evening.

These may be cards or games of a guessing or trick nature, whichever preferred. After the games are played the gifts may be given, or they may be presented in the dining room when you go for refreshments. A fruit salad served with either buttered rolls or bread and butter and cheese sandwiches and olives, then ice cream and cake and coffee, if the evening is not too warm or iced tea or lemonade, salted nuts and candies make a nice hot weather menu. You don't need the ice cream and cake, if they make it too elaborate for you. The salad, nuts, olives and rolls or sandwiches will be enough with the drink.

A Flat Tire.

Dear Minerva: Three cheers for you. You certainly hit it about the neckers. What is a girl to do when a fellow asks for a kiss and she does not give it? Flat tire is what she is called, and, on the other hand, if she consents, she's branded as a hot mamma.

The first thing a fellow wants to do after some entertainment is to park and indulge in his favorite sport. Of course there are girls who expect to pet, but I should think when a boy finds out a girl dislikes petting he could be sport enough to drop the subject and talk about the weather, if nothing else.

You know, when I'm with fellows I try to be an interesting and jolly companion, laugh, kid them and just have fun. Then when they take me out and find I don't pet—that's different — maybe I get a weak "hello" when I meet them again.

But, nevertheless, I still have hope that some day a nice fellow will come along and we can have a lot of clean fun — nothing excluded.—JOAN.

Friendship.

What is the secret of a true friendship?

It is that a person can be with you in all moods and you never doubt his love, but understand. Understanding? That's the answer to many a happy friendship and marriage. You wonder why such a handsome man married such a very homely woman or maybe the reverse. The answer is, that these two people understand each other. They are sure of one another's love and comprehension at all times.

"Blue Eyes" writes that she has been going with a boy for one year. He seems to care for her, and says he loves her, but many times he acts differently, "very queer," and she feels he doesn't love her.

All she can do is to try to understand his moods. She must not nag him into repeating that he loves her and that nothing is wrong because he is in a quiet mood. She must tune her mood to his and so learn to meet him in spirit no matter how he is feeling, and she will be the one woman in the world for him.

MAYOR ISSUES ELECTION CALL

Vote August 12 On City Finance Amendment, Gas Franchise.

Mayor Love Monday issued his proclamation calling a special city election to vote on amendments to the city charter, and a referendum on an ordinance. The mayor fixed the date of the election as August 12, the same as that for the general state primary. The polls will be open from 8 o'clock in the morning until 7 p. m. In addition to fixing the date and hours of the election the proclamation also designates the polling places.

The mayor explains in the proclamation that the amendments to the charter will increase the limited amount of money available for general city purposes will be raised from $500,000 to $800,000, this to include the $120,000 that has heretofore been separately levied for the park department. This, he explains, means an increase of but $180,000 annually over the present limitation.

Refer Gas Franchise.

It also is brought out that there is a proposal for the expenditure of $25,000 annually for ten years, for the erection of new city buildings, and $50,000 annually for the same period for storm sewer extensions.

The referendum is t be on the ordinance granting the Iowa-Nebraska Light & Power company, a natural gas franchise for ten years. As a part of the ordinance, the company agrees not to charge more than $1 per 1,000 cubic feet, and yields to the city council the right to lower the cost to the consumer at any time it sees fit.

Data May Aid Little Blue Development

Federal Engineers Place Gage Near Fairbury To Measure Flow.

Operations for construction of a new recording gage on the Little Blue river near Fairbury as part of the federal government's program to secure accurate data on inland rivers began Tuesday morning 1½ miles east of Endicott. The gage is being installed by the United States geological survey and will be the only one of its type in operation by the federal government in Nebraska.

A recording gage for determining stream flow was previously used on the Niobrara river in the northern part of the state, but was removed after a trial had found it unsatisfactory due to instability of the stream bed. The geological survey expects the one on the Little Blue to give satisfactory results.

Leads To Greater Utilization.

The gage is part of the general program being carried on by cooperation of two federal agencies, the geological survey and army engineers. Accurate data on streams is the first stage in a program designed eventually to lead to improved utilization of inland rivers for irrigation, power, and navigation purposes.

It will take about a week to construct the well, shelter, and install the gage near Endicott, Harold P. Eisenhuth, junior engineer with the geological survey, who will install the new equipment, estimated Monday night.

The recording gage will show the rise and fall of the stream hourly on a chart which will be changed every week. The chain gage previously used was read twice a day only. Data from the gage and other computations will permit the geological survey to provide army engineers with accurate information on the Little Blue, as a preliminary to study of its possible uses in the future.

Oh These Women

BY LEOLA ALLARD.

For something to cry out loud about, read the lady from Detroit, who when a man decides they aren't suited, postponed the wedding date innumerable times, breaks engagements and fails to phone, still insists that she loves him and wants to marry him! She admits along with this statement that they are "totaly unsuited." Can you tie that?

I'll let her tell it to you. You wouldn't believe me:

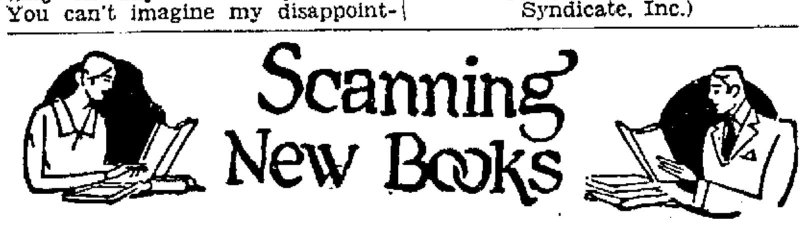

"I am twenty and have devoted the past four years of my life to a young man ten years my senior. We became engaged and he has repeatedly postponed the wedding or we have quarreled and didn't make up till too late for the wedding date. I have a lovely engagement ring.... but he disappoints me so many times, breaking dates, failing to phone, calling off the wedding!

"I love him devotedly but flew off the handle and was utterly selfish at times. He seemed utterly sincere in his plans made Christmas, to marry me this month. Later he told me that he had changed his mind and that he wasn't doing so well in business and he didn't want to take on any more responsibility. You can't imagine my disappointment, and this wasn't the first time. Then I sent for him a few days later to put him out of my life, and he wanted to be friends. I was too hurt to consent to any such arrangement. We parted. Five months have passed and we meet but pass by with only a word of greeting. I miss him terribly. I'm not heartbroken, but I just miss him. I can't be bitter toward him to save me.

"My family cannot understand it. He is cold and spurns my caresses, still he's the only one I want."

Listen to me, Twenty, you are barking up the wrong tree. He doesn't love you, he doesn't want you, and he will let you go, as you say. I think you made a mistake not to give him his walking papers and not let him do the breaking off. The best you can do is to go with others and pretend to have a good time even if you can't. Soon you will be happy and meet a man who loves you. It has happened before and it will happen to you if you let it. But for heaven's sake stop mooning over this what-you-call it! You haven't lost much. Too bad you didn't lose it sooner. I'm speaking for your good, not his.

NEW YORK—Of late years there have been plenty of books about persons whose characters are weak and their conduct unbecoming.

Now come a couple of novels in which the decorous life is given its due reward. And they should entertain the reader at this loafing season of the year when excitment, or profundity, is put aside.

A Doctor's Day.

"Doctor Serocold" is the account of one day in the life of an English country doctor, a more or less average day, beginning with a death and ending with a birth—a day that begins early and ends late.

Through the old-fashioned physician, tired, complaining, but unrelaxing in his duties, the reader meets the people of the village and is given an understanding of the doctor's thoughts as he makes the round of patients. He is counselor as well as physician.

Meanwhile, as the loves and hates, courage and despair of four generations come into his day, he sees the whole of his life again. It is his sixty-fifth birthday and he feels himself slipping, worrying about his own health.

Graceful Living.

But he carries on with the assistance of a young woman assistant, who some day will replace him.

The author is Helen Ashton, an English woman, who was herself a doctor before her marriage.

"Years of Grace," the first long novel of Margaret Ayer Barnes, short story writer, is the narrative of a woman's life from childhood past middle age.

Jane Ward was the plainer, more intelligent daughter of a Chicago family of the 1890's, when society had its scandals but never mentioned them in the home.

Her first love for a French boy was thwarted by her mother, so she married Stephen Carver, the more eligible son of a typical Bostonian family, and settled down to a sedate life that was touched by romance only briefly when a roving newspaper man came into it and as casually departed.

When she was fifty years old, Jane asked herself to what end she had struggled with dignity, decency and decorum, "to play the game with the cards that were dealt you."

"Was it only to cultivate in your own character that intangible quality that Jane, for want of a better word, had defined as grace? Was it only to feel self-respectful on your deathbed? That seemed a barren reward."

Reflecting upon it, she came to realize that wives and husbands have a lot to do with the sort of person one becomes, and there was compensation in one's family for the disillusion of life, which she had seen all about her.

Mrs. Barnes has made the American social scene of the last four decades, from the time of Columbian exposition and cotillions, to the post-war generation, a charming and living picture.

MAYOR ANSWERS SCANDAL CLAIMS

Walker Says Republicans Trying Drag New York's Name in Mud.

NEW YORK, July 22—(AP)—Mayor James J. Walker has warned city department heads that corruption, irregularity and dishonesty will not be tolerated in his administration.

The warning was uttered in an address to executives and deputies of the city's thirty-eight departments which was broadcast over three radio systems last night.

The mayor defended his regime against charges of scandal and accused state republicans, who have been demanding a legislative inquiry into the affairs of the city, of attempting to drag the city's name in the mud because they lack an issue for the fall campaign.

He denied there had been any lowering of the morale of the city's official organization and declared that with the exception of two now under investigation, city departments have functioned without a hint of scandal or corruption.

ROUGHAGE IN DIET NEEDED IN REDUCING

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN Eliminates Danger

Are you one of those who are reducing by diet? If so, there is one important thing you should know —diets that do not include roughage cause constipation, often with serious consequences. Guard against it!

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN contains the roughage needed to insure regular elimination. It is guaranteed to relieve both temporary and recurring constipation or your money will be refunded. Two tablespoons daily —in serious cases, with each meal.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is not fattening. But it does add valuable iron to the blood which helps prevent anemia (another dieting danger) and bring a glowing, healthy color to the complexion.

You can enjoy Kellogg's ALL-BRAN in many delightful ways. As a ready-to-eat cereal with milk, honey, sprinkled over cereals and salads, in soups and soaked in fruit juices. It is appetizing in cooked food. Your grocer has Kellogg's ALL-BRAN in the red-and-green package. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.
